Viscount Cecil Says U. S. Stand Being Distorted

Says Interested Propagandists Are Making Effort To Wreck Conference

CONFERENCE IS MARKING TIME

British Delegates Are In London In Conference With Government

By H. K. REYNOLDS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 21.—The American position in Geneva is being misrepresented by propagandists, who are striving to sabotage the tri-partite naval disarmament conference, Viscount Cecil charged today.

"Interested propagandists are once more at work to sabotage the conference by portraying the American government and its Geneva delegation as irreconcilably hostile to the angio-Japanese proposals", Viscount Cecil said, "while as a matter of fact the American government has yet to deliberate thereon and the American delegation is consequently awaiting for instructions from Washington before expressing any definite opinion on the subject."

Viscount Cecil and the Hon. W. C. Bridgeman, chief of the British delegation in Geneva, conferred today with members of the imperial defense committee, explaining the agreement with the Japanese and compromises with the United States, asking for approval of the policy they have pursued.

The number of eight-inch gun cruisers which will be allowed Great Britain and the United States is now the chief obstacle to the success of the conference, it is learned.

Bridgeman insists that the number of these cruisers be limited strictly so that Great Britain can employ her cruiser tonnage for lighter cruisers to protect trade routes.

Viscount Cecil is reported to be less adamant than Bridgeman and is even

Thaddeus Stevens Will Be Honored

(International News Service)

LEWISTOWN, Pa., July 21.—The memory of Thaddeus Stevens, father of the common school system of Pennsylvania, and famous Civil War Abolitionist, is to be honored at ceremonies to be held at Caledonia Park, Franklin county, on July 30, when a bronze tablet presented by the Pennsylvania Alpine club to the department of forests and waters, is to be unveiled to mark the site of the old Caledonia furnace built by Stevens and later destroyed by the Confederate army.

Gen. Jubal A. Early's Confederates destroyed the historic furnace, which furnished employment to the surrounding countryside, on June 26, 1863, on his raiding trip from Chambersburg to Wrightsville.

Governor S. Fisher will deliver an address on the life of Stevens while other talks are to be given by John A. Keith, state superintendent of public instruction; Frederick A. Godcharles, state librarian; Dr. H. H. Shenk; William A. Bourne, superintendent of the Thaddeus Stevens industrial school, Lancaster and a number of others.

May Install Permanent Local Historical Relic Quarters In Cathedral

There has been a movement inaugurated for the establishment of a central place, where historical relics of Lawrence county and New Castle may be kept for the benefit of future generations. It is desired that the relics of the past be gathered together in a safe place and a place where they may be preserved and kept in the best possible condition.

Suggestion Made

It has been suggested that the Scottish Rite Cathedral, a centrally located, modern, fireproof building and one that will be maintained in the future time, would be the ideal place for the collection of the relics.

In this spacious building there is a room provided for library purposes, which would be well adapted for the proposed purpose and those suggesting the establishment of the historical room or center at that place, have suggested to those in charge of the building, that they take the matter under careful consideration, remembering what a benefit it would be to future generations.

Under the suggestion made, the relics would be placed along the walls of the library room in cases constructed in keeping with the balance of the room and building. Small plates would be placed on each case telling whose collection was enclosed.

Collections Offered

Already two of the finest collections of relics in the city have been offered for this purpose, should the suggested move be approved by the trustees or managers of the Cathedral.

These are the collections of Harry Dunlap and C. G. Logan. A number of others are known to be contemplating making an offer to do likewise, when the place is provided.

The collection of Mr. Dunlap is one of the best in this section of the country and consists of an extensive Indian Collection, also relics of the wars of this country, dating clear back to Revolutionary War times and including numerous things of the Civil War time. He also has a number of things from the Spanish American war times.

Mr. Logan has one of the best Spanish American war relic collections in this section of the country. It is considered complete in every detail.

Frail Little Youngster Going On Six Years Now Rules Roumania

King Michael I Is Proclaimed King; Regency Will Be In Charge

QUEEN MARIE TO BE LARGE FACTOR

Prince Carol Not To Be Allowed To Return To Attend Father's Funeral

(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, July 21.—A frail little youngster, going on six, with long Brown curls, today rules the biggest kingdom in the turbulent Balkans.

He is King Michael I, of Roumania, who was proclaimed late yesterday in the great hall of parliament, 14 hours after his grandfather, King Ferdinand I, died in Castelui palace, Sinai.

Regency In Control

Little King Michael will not rule his nation in person until he is 18 years old. He is under the tutelage of a regency which was sworn in before the national assembly at the same time that Michael ascended the throne.

The regents who will administer the government for the little monarch are Prince Nicholas, Patriarch Miron Crisettea and Supreme Court Justice G. V. Ruzdugan.

Queen Real Power

There are some who believe that Queen Marie, widow of the dead monarch and grandmother of the tiny king, will be the "real power behind the throne". She will undoubtedly wield great influence of both a practical and sentimental nature.

Award Contract For Addition To Borough School

The South New Castle Boro school board at its meeting last night opened bids for the one room addition to the present school building and awarded the contract for the construction of the same to Allen and Pettitt at their bid of $2420, which was not only the lowest of several bids received but is considered a very reasonable price for the work to be done. The work will be started next Monday and the room is to be ready in time for the opening of school this fall.

The addition is to be constructed in such a manner that it will be possible to add a second floor on it with little trouble and a minimum of expense, the steel beams for the second floor being installed at this time.

The board has also awarded the contract for three new heaters to heat the old building, also the new addition, to H. R. Huston. The bid of the successful concern was $1,100.

Strange Bird Is Identified

According to C. H. Bauder, an authority on birds and their species, the bird that flew into the Square Deal Garage, in this city yesterday, was an "American Bittern," which is a heron species. The bird that was seen here, was about half grown, and will grow about a foot taller, he said.

The bittern is rare in this locality, but from the fact that this was a young one, it is likely that a number were raised somewhere in this locality, this spring.

Sleeping Beauty Is Awakening After 109 Days

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—Mrs. Clara Drummond, the "sleeping beauty" of Fresno, has "awakened from her mental slumber.

Dr. W. J. Peacock, chiropractor, who took charge of the baffling case several weeks ago, announced today that the coma victim has regained consciousness after 109 days. However, she will not be able to talk for three or four weeks.

Mrs. Drummond was overcome by monoxide gas in her home on April 4 and fell into a deep sleep from which medical men since have tried to rouse her. Now she is able to sit up a few minutes every day.

More Siamese Twin Dahlias

Siamese twin dahlias of various colors and shapes are reported to the Dahlia editor of the News.

Mrs. F. N. Jones of R. D. No. 2 brought a fine big boquet of large twin dahlias to the office this morning which the Dahlia editor considers most beautiful and strange in the way they have a bloom from each side of the stem.

Mrs. Wm. Strobel of 542 Sampson street reports having twin dahlias. Some of them red, some blue while yellow and pink ones also are found among the collection. Many buds are on the plants that will soon produce several double blooms.

British Must Yield Somewhat To Save Parley

So-Called Anglo-Japanese Agreement Not Acceptable To United States

CONFERENCE FATE DECISION NEAR

Outcome Of Disarmament Efforts May Be Known Within Two Weeks

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The so-called anglo-Japanese agreement at the Geneva naval conference, calling for an allotment of 12-12-8 in 10,000-ton cruisers and the limitation of armament on lesser cruisers to six-inch guns, is not acceptable to American naval experts.

And unless the British delegates go back to Geneva from London prepared to make material modifications in this program, the chances for an ultimate agreement are considered slight in Washington.

"Every proposition thus far advanced by the British would inevitably figure down to British naval supremacy", one American naval authority told International News Service today. "We cannot accept such a situation, nor do I believe Congress would approve any treaty authorizing it."

Attempt to Save Conference

The temporary adjournment of the naval conference and the British return to London for new instructions is regarded in Washington as a final effort to save the conference from the rocks of complete failure, upon which it has been beating for several weeks.

Britain's naval delegates, headed by the unyielding W. C. Bridgeman, first lord of the admiralty, have persistently declined to accept American recommendations, aimed at establishing naval parity between the British and American fleets.

American naval delegates, headed by Admiral Hilary P. Jones, have just as stubbornly opposed the British recommendations. American expert naval opinion has been unanimous, both in Washington and at Geneva, that to accept anything the British have yet offered would mean the sacrifice of the naval equality established at the Washington conference.

Thus far the views of the naval

Queen Marie Is Deeply Grieved

Death Of Her Royal Consort Mourned By Roumanian Queen

(International News Service)

SINAI, Roumania, July 21.—Queen Marie spent nearly the whole night watching the body of her royal consort, King Ferdinand, who died yesterday of cancer and allied ailments.

The body was laid out in the ball room of Castle Pelsior guarded by officers of the court and Alpine Chasseurs. It is clothed in the uniform of a general of the Alpine corps and is decorated with orders. The Roumanian crown rested beside the head.

Ministers of the government arrived early in the morning to accompany the body to Cotroceni where it will lie in state in the castle until the funeral on Saturday.

Thousands of loyal subjects made a pilgrimage to Sinai filling the roads surrounding the castle.

Asks Candidates To Refrain From Plastering Roads

Motor Federation Head Asks That Poles And Trees Be Spared

HARRISBURG, July 21.—Richard C. Haldeman, president of Pennsylvania Motor Federation, today appealed to candidates for office to refrain from tacking their announcement placards on poles and trees along Pennsylvania roads.

"A hundred thousand men and women are candidates in the coming primary election for party nominations for offices of high and low degree," said Mr. Haldeman. "Of this number, perhaps four thousand are candidates for offices of major importance, and will consider it necessary to emblazon their candidacy by means of large cards, posters or banners. They will reason that these cards will best be seen if posted along the roadside. State Highway department employes will see to it, of course, that signs posted within the legal limits of State highways are torn down, but nothing of this sort occurs on county or township roads. These cards are a disfiguration. Candidates never see fit to remove them after the election. Recently I saw the card of a man who was defeated for a congressional nomination six years ago. It still ornamented a pine tree along a country road, proclaiming the candidate's one-time optimism. I urge candidates not to disfigure the landscape. There are plenty of posting locations, without getting out into the country."

Dempsey-Sharkey Bout is "If" Fight, According to Will

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 21.—Sporting writers have been so universally wrong about every big prize fight that all they are saying this time is "If this happens" and "If that happens."

If "if" don't win they will all be wrong again.

They are afraid to trust to their judgment by announcing where the fight will be held for fear they might be wrong.

The winner will be the one that will draw the most money with Tunney. Tex Rickard can sell you tickets for that fight now with the names of the fighters on it.

Woman May Force Prince Carol To Seek To Regain His Throne

Look For Legal Battle Between Consumers Of Industrial And Medicinal Alcohol

May Take Test Case To Supreme Court For New Ruling On Issue

By WILLIAM P. CARNEY,
International News Service Staff Correspondent
International News Service Copyright, 1927

PARIS, July 21.—The influence of Mme. Lupescu, which caused Prince Carol to renounce his rights to the throne of Roumania, may force the exiled prince to attempt to re-establish his rights to the throne vacated by the death of King Ferdinand and now held by Prince Carol's five year old son.

This is the inference that may be drawn from a statement made today by Mme.Lupescu to the International News Service.

Prince Carol had dictated a message to the world press to the International News Service correspondent. Mme. Lupescu had been present while the message was being dictated and she followed the correspondent from the room, closed the door upon Prince Carol and whisepered:—

"Please say that statement comes from his majesty the king."

Mme. Lupescu made no further statement but the plain inference was that she considers Prince Carol the rightful king of Roumania.

The statement, which Prince Carol had tearfully dictated, indicated no such belief on his own part. It follows:—

"Broken by sorrow I couldn't receive the press. I hope my friends of the press won't feel I am hostile towards them. I consider that in these moments the press ought to respect the sorrow of a son who feels so deeply the personal loss of the father he loved and respected and the loss for the country he always loved so much."

Prince Carol informed the International News Service that in telegrams to his family, he has expressed the wish to assist in the funeral. He has had no answers to these telegrams, "I don't think I can get there," he said sorrowfully.

Erie Is After Local Record

Erie is trying to cop the laurels from New Castle.

Recently it was stated in these columns that Mrs. George Dunn of Highland avenue had raised a hollyhock that totals 11 feet in height at the present time, quite a height for so early in the season.

Now, the Erie Dispatch-Herald is trying to beat this record, and asks Erieites to report on the hollyhocks in that city, in an effort to beat the New Castle record.

Have we any larger hollyhocks in New Castle, or Lawrence county?

PENNSY FREIGHT TRAIN CRASHES INTO WORK CAR

Plan To Award Contract During Month Of August

New Road Will Give Concrete Highway From New Castle To Edenburg

VIADUCT MAY BE FUTURE DEVELOPMENT

Grade Crossings And River At Edenburg Would Be Spanned

Bids are being asked for the construction of a concrete road connecting New Castle with Edenburg. This road consists of two miles, beginning at the Parkstown curve on the New Castle-Youngstown improved road, and extending to the top of the hill in Edenburg, a short distance above the grade crossing of the B. & O. and P. & L. E. railroads.

The road which is to be built is to consist of the latest type of concrete road, 18 feet wide and with a thickness of nine inches on the edge to seven inches in the center.

The last date for the presenting of bids is August 12 at 10 o'clock, after which the contract will be let if any bids are acceptable.

Future Improvement Seen

The reason for not extending the new road all the way to the railroad at the foot of the hill in Edenburg as given by the district engineer of the State Highway Department, is that provision may be made for a future development which will eliminate the grade crossing at the foot of the hill and a bridge across the Mahoning river at this point.

At the foot of the hill in Edenburg is a grade crossing of three railroads, the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, the Baltimore and Ohio and the interurban electric line between New Castle and Youngstown. Just beyond the last railroad tracks of the P. & L. E. is the old covered bridge crossing the Mahoning river.

Foresee Viaduct

It is quite likely that within the next few years a viaduct may be built across all three railroad lines and the river, thus eliminating this danger, which would be made even greater

Governor Will Keep Hands Off

Fisher To Take No Part In Primary Election Contests In State

By S. L. NEIMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—Governor John S. Fisher will keep his hands off county politics during the state-wide primaries September 20 and the general election November 8.

This was definitely established today while political cauldrons were boiling in twenty counties where partisans will ballot for candidates for common pleas judges in September, three counties where orphan's court judges will be selected. In addition there are scores of other localities where county and municipal officials are to be selected.

Governor Fisher first let it be known he intends to take no part in local fights when he informed Dr. E. L. Jones, of Philipsburg, his political manager in Centre county, that he could not be embroiled in the Centre County judgship fight. The governor set forth his reasons in no uncertain terms, pointing out that it he took sides in Centre, a score of other districts where the contests are expected to be close would come forward with requests that the governor swing his influence toward one side of a campaign or the other.

The fall primaries usher in the first major intra-partisan fights since Fisher became governor, and observers at the capital say that the governor would be unwise to align himself with any wing within his party in any of the counties at this time. They point out that not only does Fisher have the support of the political leaders of the state Republican party, but that it is to his best interest to allow no rift to appear in the harmony which now prevails.

Then, too, with the passing of W. Harry Baker, the state Republican party lost its official conciliator, and probably the man who could "follow up" any local partisan maneuver on the part of Fisher with a political olive branch, and bring any disgruntled factions back into the party fold after the governor made his choice of sides.

Governor Fisher's inherent distaste for unnecessary political warfare also enters into the matter. Close friends say that the governor harbors no animosities, and is not personally desirous of retaliating for any opposition to his candidacy which may have cropped up in the county machines last winter.

In addition to the races for sheriff, treasurer and countless other similar offices throughout the state, Allegheny county is to select nine common pleas judges. Philadelphia 4, Luzerne 3, Delaware 3, Schuylkill 2 and the following one each: Berks, Blair, Bradford, Centre, Chester, Crawford, Fayette, Lackawanna, Lawrence, Montgomery, Montour, Northampton, Susquehanna and York.

Two judges of orphans courts are to be selected in Philadelphia county, and one each in Berks nad Fayette, while two associate judges will be chosen in Adams county, two in Forrest, two in Mifflin and one each in Perry and Snyder counties.

There is a growing suspicion that the British suspected the Geneva conference would fail when they agreed to attend.—New York Evening World.

Roumania Quiet

All Roumania is quiet. But troops are held in readiness at all strategic points in the event that discontented politicians or army officers friendly to former Crown Prince Carol might attempt a coup.

Carol, who renounced his rights to succession following a scandalous love affair, is in Paris. He will not return to Roumania to attend the funeral. In fact, he will not be allowed to enter the country.

Arrangements for Ferdinand's funeral are under way and will be completed tomorrow. One of the first official acts of the council of the regency was to set Saturday as the date for the funeral.

The body of the king has been embalmed and lies in state.

Summer School Sessions To End On Next Monday

Over 800 Pupils Are Completing Six Week's Term At School

Summer school, now in session at the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school, will close next Monday morning, probably about 10:30 o'clock, according to James M. Hughes, principal of the school.

He says that the final exams commenced today and will run over until tomorrow. Reports for the six weeks session will be given out Monday, the closing day.

There were 860 students enrolled when the summer school was opened, but he says that a few have dropped out during the time intervening.

At the end of the third week, all those who are doing unsatisfactory work, must drop out. Very few were eliminated at this time, however.

At a recent meeting of the teachers of the summer school, Prof. Hughes asked them how they like their work. He states that they all replied, 'fine". There are 31 teachers in all.

The swimming pool at the school was open during the entire time, Prof. Hughes says. It was under the direction of William Klee, boys' physical director at the Senior High school. Mrs. Klee was in charge of the girls. On Monday and Wednesday the pool was open for boys, on Tuesday and Thursday for girls of the Junior and Senior high schools, and on Friday for the boys and girls of the fifth and sixth grades.

Mr. Hughes says that the students have kept to their work, right along, the majority doing excellent work.

Medicine Habit Grows In England

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 21.—The habit of swallowing medicine on the slightest provocation is on the increase thruout England, and there is a growing tendency to fly to drugs in various forms for all sorts of illnesses, real or imaginary, according ot a report issued by L. G. Brock, assistant secretary to the ministry of health.

English people are apparently under the delusion that they are not receiving proper treatment from doctors unless some sort of prescription is given to them, he states. The result is that many doctors prescribe medicine in the hope that the psychological result of the magic bottle will justify its contents.

Surveys were made some time ago by the State Highways Department, and if everything is satisfactory it will likely be the next piece of improved road built in Lawrence county.

Can Order Gypsy Bands To Move On

State Of Pennsylvania Is Being Overrun By These Bands

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21. — Presence in Pennsylvania at this time of an unusually large number of gypsy bands has brought complaint to Harrisburg from many sources. Richard C. Haldeman, President of Pennsylvania Motor Federation, today called attention to the fact that the MacDade Act, passed by the recent Legislature, gives municipal sub-divisions of Pennsylvania authority to compel these nomadic bands to move on.

"The MacDade Act," said Mr. Haldeman, "provides that when the Board of Health of any municipality is convinced that the presence of gypsies is injurious or a menace to the health of the community, the Board may order the gypsies to depart. Written notice must be served and a time limit set for the departure. This time limit may be two hours, or two days, or any other time. Failure to observe the order is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

During the last month more gypsies have been seen in Pennsylvania than for many years. The horse-drawn caravans of other days have given way to processions of high powered, but somewhat decrepit automobiles. These are loaded to the fenders with baggage and human beings. New York City is winter headquarters for the majority of gypsies in the eastern part of the United States. The tribes were delayed by the rainy weather in their getaway this spring and scores of bands seem to have reached Pennsylvania at the same time.

U. S. Agriculture Is Independent Of Foreign Fertilizer

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—American agriculture is rapidly becoming independent of foreign sources of fertilizer supply, according to a survey of this industry completed by the commerce department.

Formerly an extensive importer of ammonium sulphate, an important fertilizer basis, the United States now accords this commodity obtained as a by product of coke and gas manufacture, the first place in its long list of manufactured chemical items exporter, a report by J. W. Wizeman, of the commerce chemical division showed.

The foreign sales of ammonium sulphate in 1926 was described as a phenomenal expansion and were responsible for the increase in the value of fertilizers from $17,300,000 in 1925 to $20,000,000 in the following year.

The Chilean monopoly of the supply of inorganice nitrogen was broken by the rapid development thruout the world of ammonium sulphate production, according to Wizeman. In the face of keen competition American sulphate was exported to 33 countries last year. While Asiatic markets consume the bulk of the ammonium sulphate exporters, taking 90 percent in 1925, last year only 82 percent was sent to that market, owing to sizable shipments to Spain, the Irish Free State and British African countries.

Despite competition for the European phosphate trade on the part of North African producers American exporters continued to maintain an important position on that continent and in addition developed markets heretobefore unexploited, notably Australia and New Zealand.

FLY-TOX KILLS MOSQUITOES

Mosquitoes Thin Your Blood

Normal human blood is too thick to be drawn through the mosquito's small piercing tube. They must first inject a thinning fliud. In that way disease germs are set afloat in the blood stream—bacteria of burning fever and crippling disease. There is also the danger of streptococcic infection (blood poisoning) from scratching the bite. Mosquitoes must be killed. Health authorities advocate Fly-Tox. Simple instructions on each bottle (blue label) for killing ALL household insects. Insist on Fly-Tox. Fly-Tox is easy to use. Safe, stainless, fragrant, sure. Adv.

experts have prevailed upon Secretary of State Kellogg and upon Ambassador Hugh S. Gibson. Both Kellogg and Gibson, however, have counselled their naval advisers that some sacrifice must be made if an agreement is to be reached. Presumably, the British diplomats have counselled their own naval experts in the same way.

The fate of the conference probably will be decided one way or another within the next two weeks, it is believed here. If any agreement is to be reached, the British delegates must return from London prepared to go further in meeting the American position than they have hitherto showed any intention of going. That much seems assured here, for there is no evidence of any weakening in the position of this government.

The narrow gauge railway train had been bumping along at a great rate. In the passenger carriage everything was in confusion. The passengers were being jostled from one end of the coach to the other, and occasionally, as though for variety, from side to side. Finally, however, the train at last settled down to a much smoother pace. One of the passengers turned to another.

"Ah, the train is running much smoother now."

POSTMASTER APPOINTMENT

ANNOUNCEMENT made on Wednesday by Congressman Dr. Howard Swick, of this district, to the effect that he was naming Edwin W. Crawford to the place as postmaster of the city of New Castle, is one that will meet with a gratifying response in New Castle.

While it has long been recognized that postmaster appointments are largely in the nature of political plums, and frequently the person named to the place gets it through political activity, rather than through acquaintance with the task, and service for the post office department, it is refreshing to have an appointment such as that of Mr. Crawford, where there is a background of 27 years service in the department.

Mr. Crawford has served as assistant postmaster under five postmasters, and in several of the administrations at times had a large share of the responsibility, so that he is well acquainted and equipped for the important post to which he has been named.

The task that fell to the lot of Congressman Swick in naming a postmaster to fill the vacancy caused by the death of J. C. Norris was one that was not an enviable one, especially due to the high calibre and ability of the seven or eight citizens who applied for the job. All were most able and highly esteemed.

But the appointment of Mr. Crawford is one in which long time service in the post office department, and a record in this work is given deserved recognition.

SOME LESSONS OF FLIGHT

THE second group of Pacific-hoppers reached the island of Molokai and landed safely themselves, although their plane was wrecked. Fog hampered them. Their radio reception outfit got out of order, although they were able to send messages right along, which were caught by radio stations and steamers.

From Molokai, they were taken by army fliers to Wheeler Field, 25 miles from Honolulu, and the cheers and congratulations began.

Apparently the success of trans-oceanic flights is not yet a foregone conclusion. The usefulness of radio to call for help and report progress, and of radio beacons to help in keeping to the course, has been demonstrated. But also, it is obvious that the radio cannot be wholly relied on yet. Compasses and radio apparatus get out of commission in the air.

In all these thrilling flights, so far, the motors have stood up well. It will not be long before the whole equipment will be as perfect as the motors, and the latter will undoubtedly be further developed for greater achievement and less gas consumption.

SOMETHING NEW

AT LAST the world has found that "something new under the sun" so long considered non-existent. It is only an opinion, but for originality it is incomparable. This latest creation of this amazing age is nothing more than a public utterance of a London physician:

"Imitation plays an important part in the formation of habit and character among infants. If one baby hears another crying or making odd sounds he will do likewise. We had recently in the nursery training school an Indian baby who had so closely imitated the foghorn which he heard on shipboard coming to England that the hotel proprietors here refused to keep him in their rooms. Another baby was brought to us because he made a noise like the whistle of a locomotive, a habit he had picked up because his parents lived near a railroad station."

This more amusing than amazing theory, if carried to its logical conclusion would permit the abolition of the crying baby by the simple method of isolation during the formative years. Unfortunately for the physician's theory many parents retain a distinct recollection that their first-born, or last-born, as the case may be, proclaimed its arrival in this world with as lusty wails as can be produced by any ten-day old patient in a crowded public maternity ward.

Newspapermen have long speculated on the size of newspaper that would be required in a community in which the entire populace had a well-developed "nose for news" and donated its services to the home paper. The introduction of advertising and publicity into new fields is gradually answering that question.

The shorter and uglier word for wounded vanity is "grouch."

George Clausen, R. Mr. Clausen is a native Londoner, born in the British metropolis seventy-five years ago. His talent is inherited, his father having been a well-known decorative artist. Mr. Clausen studied at the leading English art schools and later went to Paris, where he studied under such masters as Bougeureau and Fleury. He has been equally successful as a painter of both landscape and figure. In 1895 he was made an associate of the Royal Academy. His work has received recognition at the great international expositions held in Paris, Brussels, and Chicago.

It is our humble opinion that when murderers refuse to eat the only thing for the authorities to do is to let things take their own course and abide by the results.

The New Castle ball club is having another Booster Day game on Saturday. The Cleveland Tellings will play a double-header here, the directors of the New Castle team have purchased a handsome sedan to be given away to the holder of the lucky number. Let's get behind the boys and push hard. They deserve your support.

They are going to quit hanging murderers in Illinois if they convict any and use the "hot seat' 'instead. That will be shocking—at least to the murderers.

One of the overseas flyers, Mr. Levine, will have to pay about half a million dollars in income tax he has been trying to evade just as soon as he sets foot on American shores. Money seems to enter into most every thing these days. Trying to get out of paying half a million dollars income tax is some job.

By the time report of the incident gets from the underboss to the superintendent, to the assitant manager, to the manager and to the president it is transformed into a tragedy. It's terrible.

An angel and a goose one day

A silly goose he blindly chose.

We were on North Mill street the other day and met an old friend whom I hadn't seen in a month of Sundays. He had just paid his water bill and as he folded the recipt and put it into his pocket, he said:

"Do you know this is one bill I am always glad to pay. What the dickens would we do without water? We have gotten along fairly well without whiskey and beer and wine and gin and all that, but we must have old aqua pura always on tap! Water is life. We should develop more of it without delay and I'll consider it a privilege to help foot the bill!" Good Stuff.

Here's The New Dope on Cleo.

We are learning a lot about the ancients. It has always been supposed Cleopatra let an asp sting her to death because of a love affair. A Dutch professor, digging into history, finds another reason why Egypt's most celebrated queen decided to apply a poisonous varmint to her breast in the year 30 B. C. It was because the Egyptians believed the asp had power to deify its victims, and tired of being a queen, Cleopatra wished to become a goddess. That would be just like Cleo. It would be just like many women.

Herr Remmel of the German Communist party sees a "terrible omen for capitalist Europe" in Vienna's revolution. Russia is delighted, hailing that revolution as the first step in the overthrow of organized money as a world power. Russia has still to learn what power organized money possesses. She will know more about it as she gradually gets organized money of her own, makes up her mind that it is a pretty good thing and adopts it.

A man from Mars, dropping in on the Viennese now, might take that little revolution seriously, and agree with Herr Remmel that financial Europe is sitting on a volcano.

Japan is the strong power in Asia. Britain has her great commercial interests and the prestige of her empire at stake in Asia. You can't expect Japan and Britain to take that sort of thing seriously.

LIFE

There comes a time for laughter, and there comes a time for tears,
There's much to make us weary as we journey up the years.
And the best is oft the fleetest and the worst is hard to bear
But life is gall and honey and a man must take his share.

Be brave when skies are stormy, be joyous when they're blue,
There'd be no joy in living if no task
you had to do.
Were all the worries ended and all the storms blown by We'd sicken of men's laughter and long to hear them sigh.

The world is in the making and man to faith must cling,
Today the task is dreary, tomorrow
rest may bring,
And all the past is over. The distant goal we see
Is but a hint of splendor that strength may bring to be.

There'll come a time for laughter, but it's the care you meet,
And it's the task completed that makes the laughter sweet.
The soul is in the making, and growth is born of pain,
And the eyes which weep this morning shall light with smiles again.

NEW MONEY

And now the treasury of the United States announces that we are going to have smaller and better paper money.

From 7 7-16 by 3 1-8 the currency will be cut to 6 1-8 by 2 5-8 inches.

The problem with most of us is not how to get smaller bills, but how to get more of them.

Still, shorter and narrower bills are an improvement. They will be a public convenience and the cost of making such money will be reduced. They will fit into the pocketbooks without folding, and folding and creasing hasten deterioration.

Mr. Mellon says, that "each note will require one-third less paper and ink and its shipping weight will be reduced by one-third. Besides, more notes will be produced by the same printing operation."

The change will be a saving to Uncle Sam on paper and printing of about two billion a year.

Every little helps and this is no small step in the way of economy.

It has always been the cry of reformers that we should only have paper money. They claim that all money is good for is as a medium of exchange, and paper money is as good as anything else. The common notion, however, is that money must represent real value in some way and it is only legitimate money when it is exchangeable for gold. This may be an error, but it is one that is held by most economists.

As a matter of fact, the use of money or bank notes in business has largely been superseded by the use of bank checks. These are a kind of paper money with the credit of the bank behind them.

Still there is a kind of feeling of satisfaction that one has from handling the "long green," and to make that desirable commodity more handy will probably receive the approval of the people.

We may not be able to amass any more money by having it shorter and not so wide and what we do have will not be so bulky, but, on the whole, we can carry bills more easily and they will probably last longer.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A REAL SERVICE.

Everyone who travels East and West from and to the Pacific Coast sooner or later travels by the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe Railroad known familiarly the world over as the "Santa Fe." All who use the Santa Fe, have heard of Fred Harvey. Travelers speak of Fred Harvey's dining rooms, and the Santa Fe in the same breath. Fred is dead, —peace to his ashes. He built for himself a great name, and his two sons are carrying on.

Way back in 1876,—it was not long after Mark Twain "Roughed" it over the prairies, at a time when the Santa Fe was only beginning to lay its rails Westward to the setting sun, when gbod food properly cooked west of the Mississippi, was a rarity, that Fred Harvey opened a lunchroom in the Santa Fe Station at Topeka, Kansas. Into this little lunchroom, which was kept clean, with linen spotless and silver and glasses polished, and in which universally good meals were served by attractive waitresses, the travelers soon began to make pilgrimages. The experience at Topeka resulted in the opening of a second unit of the Santa Fe-Fred Harvey service, a full fledged station hotel at Florence, Kansas, with a chef imported from Chicago, where again was demonstrated the efficiency of the Harvey service.

Following the installation at Florence, Harvey Houses multiplied gradually, and Fred Harvey closely followed the construction trains, as the shining rails crept slowly over Raton Pass into New Mexico, and then into California. It may be news to the uninitiate, but for years there was no written contract which marked the relationship between the Santa Fe and Fred Harvey, only a word of direction from time to time for the latter to install and operate at a given standard. The Santa Fe built the attractive dining rooms at convenient intervals to meet the requirements of long distance travelling, and Fred Harvey was told to operate. To-day the Harveys serve fifteen million meals a year, which is equal to the feeding of a town of fourteen thousand inhabitants three meals a day, for at the same time not only are these meals served, as is well known in the stations, but in the great transcontinental trains run by the railroad, and upon every train operating between Kansas City and Chicago. The Harveys own their own ranches. Only a part of the perishable food stuffs served by them are purchased in the open market. They maintain dairies at Newton, Temple, La Junta, Las Vegas, and Del Rio. Their ranches furnish all the poultry. Their experts pick from the packing plants of Kansas City and Chicago the choicest cuts of meat. The Santa Fe baggage and dining cars are fitted with special refrigerators to carry the Harvey food, besides, special refrigerator cars will be found often attached to the Santa Fe passenger trains. They are Harvey cars, carrying chiefly fruits, vegetables, and fish.

It is a far cry from the first lunchroom at the Topeka station to this system with its 25 station hotels, 40 dining rooms, 54 lunch rooms, and many dining cars carried by the trains, which require the service of more than five thousand employees.

This story is the story of the growth of a railroad, and the growth of that vast domain stretching from the Mississippi to the Pacific Ocean.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

SUCH A FUNNY OCEAN!

"The Frantic Atlantic" is a sort of guide-book of the ocean, written by Basil Woon and just published by the Knopfs. It is a delicious handling of facts with a light touch.

A little touch of humor is salt for many heavy facts, if only there is someone to sprinkle the salt. I believe the World Almanac could be made a best seller if someone would touch up its statistics with a little humor, such as Woon has used in conveying a whole wagonload of facts about the Atlantic.

The trouble is that humorists take themselves too seriously. As soon as they find out they are funny, they refuse to be anything else. They just sit around and write wise-cracks, to make the world laugh. When a man gets a reputation as a humorist, he goes on the platform. He considers himself frankly a failure unless the audience laughs from the time he appears on the stage until the time of his final bow.

I'm all for humor, but I think a little amateur humor is badly needed. I'd like to see humor injected into things, instead of having it done up in red packages, brilliantly labeled and set aside, like explosives.

"Who's Who" could be made a riot if some of the interesting facts about the celebrities in it were gently injected. The way to do it would be to throw over all rules and get some writers to write the biographical sketches, without restrictions. There's something amusing about nearly everybody.

Webster's International Dictionary is the most useful book I know anything about, with the exception of the Bible, which ought to be left just as it is. But Webster would be improved wonderfully if it had a humorous introduction and an occasional flash of humor in the definition of words. It's simply tragic the way opportunities for saying funny things are passed up by that dictionary.

Now this Woon is not a humorist at all. He's just a fellow with a stupendous collection of interesting facts on his mind, and a sense of humor. He tells you all about the steamships, the steamship lines and their history, what celebrities ride on which ships, what to do for seasickness, what about card-sharpers and vamps who operate on shipboard, and how to go around the world for how much money. But he does it all with a smile.

I'm for having a dozen Woons rewrite our college textbooks. And our high school Latin texts.

News At City Hall Is Gone On Vacation Is Reporters' Plaint

News moved with the acceleration of a snail in city hall circles today and excepting the usual routine duties of employes there was nothing to occur that would excite the reading public.

True, it is, that Councilman Tyler summoned other colleagues and it was determined to have Cage Bros. reinforce the flooring upon which the old vault rests.

The city is installing a heating system and it has been discovered that the vault is so heavy that the floor has sagged and several supports must be placed.

One Prisoner.

Mayor Dunlap had one prisoner to face him, he being Daniel Sullivan of Mahoningtown—who had a tussle with Patrolman Tom Llewellyn last night and naturally, as in all such cases, Dan came out second best.

It appears that Daniel, who speaks with a brogue, had found some sort of beverage that gave him the fighting spirit of Jack Dempsey.

The policeman told Dan to go home and "sleep it off". Later he found "Sully" wandering around and believing he was in no fit condition to wander around, told him he was under arrest.

These words evidently excited Dan and while the officer was calling the patrol he took a good healthy kick at the policeman, the blow landing on the knee.

During the tussle Sullivan fell to the pavement, cut his scalp and "Doc" C. C. Dickey had to sew up the gash and the blood ruined a perfectly good shirt, Llewellyn claims.

Today Mayor Dunlap was inclined to be kind; in fact, he always has a warm place in his heart for unfortunates and when Dan confessed himself to blame he said: "Pay the doctor and two dollars for the shirt."

Dan promised. He works in a railroad camp.

Chief Finds Uke.

While this sketch was going on the chief of police, Henry Dysart, noticed a ukelele lying on his desk and instead of picking fault on the mayor's sentence, he commenced picking on the "uke".

Now be it remembered, Mr. and Mrs. Reader, that this chief of police is not a bad player—one wag, sitting in an outer room declaring: "It's terrible."

"You know," said the chief after he had been robbed of the instrument, "some people do not understand on the face of things why we make certain regulations.

"The yellow line on the west side of North Mercer street near North street was placed so that the fire department could swing into North Mercer street, southward, should the need occur."

His yarn was interrupted by Mrs. Minnie McKibben, police matron, who strolled into the private office with Detective Bill Fleming and soon they left—to investigate two different cases concerning girls.

Quiet at Fire Station.

Not even a blaze perturbed the firemen but the assistant chief, Claire Stockman, went to the county jail to visit "Buck" Reynolds as "Buck" says there is smoke escaping somewhere, but no fire.

George Harper, a fireman, who sleeps at the police camp, says "it's cold at the camp at night," but with his weight and youth he should not be cold, according to his mates.

Drifting from the city hall where news is generally found the writer returned, typed this story and that's how a reporter put in a morning on a dull news day.

Worms Vs. Flies As Trout Bait Biggest Problem In Black Hills

By GEORGE E. DURNO
Correspondent
(International News Service)

RAPIR CITY, S. D., July 21. — Trout fishing has almost become an international problem since President Coolidge took to the Black Hills a month ago for a summer of rest. The pros and cons of worms versus flies as bait,—brought to the fore when the President returned to the Summer White House on his second day proudly displaying a two-pounder and announcing he had lured it with a worm—continue to rage right merrily and threaten to distrub an otherwise tranquil vacation.

Isaak Waltonites have written in and called in person to denounce worm fishing in outraged language. Others have upheld it. Newspapers have taken up the cudgel editorially.

Be it there a matter of final record that Mr. Coolidge is now employing flies exclusively. He has a book of specimens imitating virtually every known species of insect life that is wont to hover over a mountain stream and afford possible food for a trout.

President Is Expert

Be it also a matter of record that the Executive, progressing under two years of expert tutelage, is becoming an adept at the art of casting, striking, and playing with his fish. He can strip a line and flick his fly under overhanging growth in a manner far from amateur. Employing a nine-foot rod, he has used a hundred feet of line in a stream such as he is frequenting. He selects the right fly with uncanny judgement.

All of the foregoing on the authority of his fishing companions, including Major J. F. Coupal, his physician; Col. E. W. Starling, assistant secret service chief, and Cecil Gideon, his guide.

Squaw Creek—now officially dubbed Grace Coolidge Creek by the South Dakota Legislature— where the President does all of his fishing deserves a special mention of its own. But ten minutes by motor from the State Game Lodge, one is transported to a fairyland in the wilderness upon reaching its banks. Of human life there is no evidence but a fisherman's faint trail along the sharply winding banks. Of wildlife there is a profusion. Great ash, oak and pine tree cast their shadows over the swirling waters. Wild flowers bloom along the banks in such quanity as to make one imagine they must actually fight each other for existence. Birds of a dozen varieties swoop back and forth; chipmunks and squirrels chatter busily. The stream is narrow and easily fordable, to the delight of the fisherman. The bed over which the water curl is of granite and sandstone and a mixed rock—as sound to the foot as a sidewalk. At points, the stream rushes between high, overhanging bluffs like a minature canyon, only to subside in deep, lanquid pools, favorite hiding place of the trout.

Creek Disappears

Below the spots President Coolidge usually fishes, Squaw Creek disappears abruptly into the earth and cavern for several miles before returning to the surface.

It is rainbow trout, most wily of the species, which attracts the President most. Downstream are brook trout in profusion, but to date he has made no effort to catch a string of fish, which are so easily lured they will even snap at a bit of birchbark. Not so, however with the rainbow variety. The fisherman's shadow across the stream will send them scurrying upstream or under a bank where no length of effort will lure them back. The slightest variation in color or shape of the fly from the insect life over the water will render all cast futile. They are real sports, and here on Squaw Creek they are found in ideal surroundings.

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY Florence Smith Vincent

THE "COMING-OUT" CONCERT

Froggie was delighted to discover that at last the boy had recognized him.

"I am very well indeed, two-legs," croaked he, "and as happy as a cricket on the earth. All day I have felt as though my skin would burst, so full of joy am I. I asked you a moment ago why in the world you were down at the pond at this time of night, but you needn't tell now. I have guessed."

The boy didn't really know himself why he was there, but he was curious to hear what Frog would say. So Peter smiled to himself in the darkness and asked:

"Why am I here, old chap? Tell me."

You have stayed to listen to the 'Coming-Out Concert'," replied his companion. Peter gave a little gasp.

"The 'Coming-Out Concert," repeated he. "What in the world are you talking about? You have certainly guessed wrong this time, Froggie. I don't even know what you mean!"

"Glug!" croaked Froggie in a disgusted tone. "You are not half so smart as I thought you were. When you called my eyes 'headlights' I gave you credit for being very clever. The name suits them so well. But now that you tell me you never heard of a 'Coming-Out Concert' I must believe you are just as stupid as the rest of the two-legs. Well, if you don't know what it is I suppose I must tell you. It is a concert that the Frogs give every spring. And what for, do you suppose?"

"I can't guess," replied the boy.

"To celebrate our coming-out, of course!" answered Froggie sharply.

"Yes, but coming out of what?" The more Froggie said the more puzzled the boy became.

"Out of our winter quarters!" declared Froggie triumphantly. "Surely you have heard that we Frogs sleep all winter! No? Dear, dear, how ignorant! When the cold weather steals down from the north—long before the first white blanket has been spread upon the cold, bare earth—we Frogs have buried ourselves deep in the mud at the bottom of the pond, and there, safe from harm, as warm as bees in the hives, we spent the cold days with nothing to do but sleep and grow fat.

"To be sure, we couldn't live very well without a bit of moisture—our skins would harden, grow stiff and crack—but there is moisture in the mud, all that we need. But let me tell you after you have lain in mud for months you are mighty glad to come out in the world of air and sunshine again. When spring comes and we Froggies can push our way out of our muddy beds we are the happiest creatures in all the wide world. And now spring is here, tra la!"

"Glug, Glug! Kerchunk! Honk! Honk! Keree!"

"Gracious. What is all that noise?" asked Peter as suddenly the air became filled with strange sounds.

"Noise, indeed" croaked Froggie. "What you hear is the musicians tuning up. Aha! Now all together. They are off. The 'Coming-Out Concert' has begun."

Next: "Baked in a Mud Cake."

IT'S A BRUTAL GAME

MILWAUKEE, Wisc., July 21.—Warren Kirkham, one of the best end prospects for the Marquette University football team this fall, has discovered the ideal way to keep in condition for the coming season and at the same time enjoy his vacation. For Kirkham is the official bouncer at a lakeside dance hall. Kirkham's summer job is the most original of those selected by other candidates for the eleven. Some have chosen the ice wagon method of keeping in shape, others are pushing wheelbarrows, and one man is trimming trees.

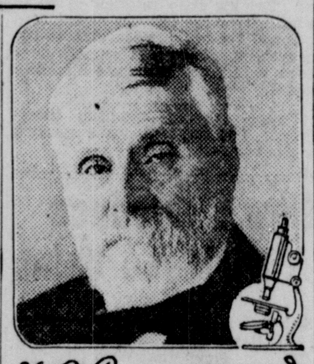
Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.



W. B. Caldwell M.D.
AT AGE 83

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Something Really new . . . for the table

The whole world is knocking at Pittsburgh's door for the new cereal food discovered and perfected by the House of Heinz and the Heinz Fellowship at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research.

By a new process, owned exclusively by Heinz, rice has now been transformed into a fairy-like food with a popcorn flavor that instantly captivates every taste, stimulates lazy appetites, and satisfies hearty ones.

Heinz Rice Flakes are a revelation in constant delicacy and crispness, and they stay crisp in cream or milk.

Far more important than the delicious flavor are the health protecting qualities of Heinz Rice Flakes. The new process so utilizes the natural roughage of the rice that it imparts a moisture-absorbing property which is one of Nature's best eliminative aids.

Eat Heinz Rice Flakes! Children love them, too!

LIVERPOOL, England, July 21.—Thomas H. Hill, an Englishman who emigrated to Canada in 1912, has pulled a superstowaway act. Hill purchased a passage and a cabin for his wife and child to return to England. Then he boarded the boat to see them off, but remained too long. He shared the cabin and lived on scraps during the voyage not daring to crowd his luck as far as the dining salon. Suspicion was not aroused until after he had disembarked.

Government Gets $176,157 From Stamp Collectors

Receipts All Profits, Since Stamps Are Rarely Used; King George And Swedish Prince Among Fans

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Stamp collectors turned over $176,157 to the government during the last fiscal year and it is practically all profit, for the stamps are rarely used.

The year was the largest on record, according to figures made available by the postoffice department's philatelic agency. The receipts brought up to $676,714 the money taken in since the agency was established five and a half years ago.

Prominent Fans

Prominent stamp fans included King George of England, the Crown Prince of Sweden, former Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen and others. Arthur Hinds, a Utica, N. Y., manufacturer, is credited with owning a Mauretius, one of the most valuable stamps in existence and priced at $35,000.

During next month many orders are expected for the new Vermont sesqui-centennial stamp and the Burgoyne campaign stamp, which will be placed on sale August 3, at a few postoffices in Vermont and New York and at the agency here. Orders have been given for the printing of 20,000,000 Vermont stamps and 25,000,000 Burgoyne stamps.

The Lindbergh air mail stamp brought many orders. There were 5,757,000 in the first run and more probably will be printed. Of the White Plains battle stamps, issued last October, 43,324,000 were printed.

The sesqui-centennial stamp, commemorating the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the independence of the United States, and issued July 27, 1926, was not very popular with regular stamp users and the postoffice department has had difficulty in getting rid of a large surplus of the 307,731,700 printed.

MAYOR KLINE DELAYS ACTION

Pittsburgh Mayor Has Made No Reply To Demands Of League

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—"In a few days."

This was the answer of Mayor Charles H. Kline to the demand of the Citizen's League of Pittsburgh for an answer to their request for the dismissal of Peter P. Walsh, superintendent of police.

The Rev. J. Alvin Orr, president of the league, who called up Mayor Kline at his summer home in Ohio, said today the answer was satisfactory. Orr inferred the reply meant the mayor would announce his decision to fire the police chief or retain him at the end of the week.

But Orr is not to be sidestepped, he says. If Mayor Duvall fails to reply to the league's demands within a reasonable time the preacher intends to publish an open letter in the newspapers.

Belgian Violinist Weds Girl Of 25

Eugene Ysaye, 69, Takes A Youthful Pupil For His Bride

NEW YORK, July 21—The romance of Eugene Ysaye, 69-year-old world famous violinist and his pupil of less than half his age was revealed by the girl's father, himself but one year younger than the bridegroom.

The girl who played her way into the violinist's heart with the music magic that he had taught her is Annette Dincin, the 25-year-old daughter of a Brooklyn doctor.

By marrying Ysaye, the girl becomes the step mother of a man who is considerably older than herself; old enough to have been a soldier in the Belgian army during the late war.

School Teacher Drops From Sight

WOOSTER, O., July 21.—No trace has been found of Miss Frances Beckler, 29, school teacher and book agent, who dropped out of sight here last May.

Transferred to Wooster from Birmingham, Ala., where she had been selling books, the last word from Miss Beckler was a letter with the Wooster post mark in which she informed her manager that she was sick and unable to work. She gave the Hotel Wooster as her address.

After several letters had come to the hotel and were uncalled for they were returned, the hotel clerk said. Several days after that a woman who said she came from Canton stopped and asked for the mail.

Colorado is the peakiest state in the union. Forty-two of the 55 highest mountains in the country are in that state.

Indian Village Turned Into Boy Scouts' Home

SAN DIEGO BOY SCOUTS IN THEIR INDIAN VILLAGE.

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., July 21.—San Diego has what is described as "America's most picturesque Boy Scout home." It is an Indian village made for and partly by the Pueblos and Cliff Dwellers of New Mexico and Arizona as an exhibit in the San Diego 1915-16 exposition.

It is situated in Balboa park. Artificial rocks, Indian huts and other buildings and barriers, native to the southwest provide the scouts an opportunity on a single track of ground in the heart of the 1,400-acre park to learn scoutcraft as though they were hundreds of miles away on the desert or in the mountains of New Mexico among the red men.

Meet Once a Month.

Every first Friday of the month the 1,200 boys of the various troops gather at the Indian village, there to hold court of honor and receive such awards as have been earned.

At other times the scouts use it as playfield, reading rooms, practice quarters for their games and for other social and instruction purposes.

This village was constructed by the Santa Fe Railroad company 13 years ago at a cost of a quarter-million dollars for the purpose of an Indian exhibit. Redskins were brought there from their reservations and maintained.

In 1917 the village was given by the railroad company to the city of San Diego who turned it over to the park board, it finally reaching the Boy Scouts from that body on the condition that they keep it clean and in repair.

That they have done. No playground in the city shows evidence of better care than the picturesque village, maintained wholly and solely by the khaki-clad youngsters.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Blueberry pies are favorites in season and also in winter when made from canned berries. Blueberry cake is not so common in some parts of the country, but no one who is fond of the inky little berries should fail to make a few while the fresh berries are available.

Baked Beans Sliced Tomatoes
Blueberry Cake Milk

TODAY'S RECIPES

Blueberry Cake—Make any plain cake recipe or the following: One cup sugar, two cups flour, two tablespoons butter or lard, melted, one egg, milk. Melt shortening in measuring cup, add to the dry ingredients that have been sifted together, beat well. Add one cup washed and drained blueberries and bake in a medium oven. I have made the cake batter thicker than usual to hold the berries. If it is too thin they will sink to the bottom.

SUGGESTIONS

Colored Materials.

Delicate colors in wash materials will not fade if they are soaked in lukewarm water to which a few drops of turpentine have been added before they are put into the sudsy water for laundering.

Soak pink wash materials in a solution of one tablespoon vinegar to one quart of water and hang by the selvedge in a shady place to dry before cutting out the dress. Then your materials will neither fade nor shrink.

Blue materials will hold their color best if soaked in a salt solution, one tablespoon of salt to one quart of water.

It not only means care before making, but care in laundering, if colors are to be retained. Never use too hot water. Always use pure white suds and do not rub soap directly on the clothes. Rinse well in several waters. Turn wrong side out on the line and dry in a shady place. And, lastly, do not use an extremely hot iron for pressing.

Leftover Roast.

Shred the veal left over from Sunday roast. Heat one can of corn seasoned with butter, salt and pepper. Place in baking dish in the following order: Cracker crumbs, corn, meat and cracker crumbs on top. Mix juice of meat with corn before putting it in to make it moist. Bake three-quarters of an hour.

Try This.

Next time you want a specially wholesome salad, try grated raw carrots combined with one part of diced apple. Serve with French dressing and set away to cool.

DREAM IS TRUE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—A dream that her son, Alfred Whiteside, 26, of Syracuse, would be drowned, came true when Mrs. Jessie Whiteside received word at her home here that the young man fell into the St. Lawrence river at Thousand Islands and met death.

The mother begged her son not to take his annual outing on the island, she said, for in a dream she had seen his lifeless body taken from the water.

Beats Wife For Bobbing Hair; Gets Six Months

WASHINGTON, July 21. — The right of a wife to bob her hair despite her husband's protests was upheld by Judge Robert E. Mattingly in police court today when he sentenced Grover L. Carr to six months in jail after the wife testified she had been spanked for her hair-cutting venture.

Mrs. Carr told the court that when she returned home with her locks shorn her husband flew into a rage, grabbed her by her remaining tresses and violently paddled her with the palm of his hand.

The husband admitted meting out the punishment and called his wife's father to the witness stand, the father's testimony showing he too did not believe in bobbed hair.

"I see no excuse," Judge Mattingly remarked. "My wife bobbed her hair without my knowledge, but I did not get into police court over it. What shall I do with your husband?"

"I want him severely punished" the wife replied. "He has beaten me before."

"Six months straight," the court ruled, "for an unwarranted assault."

BREAD SURVEY

(International News Service)

INDIANA, Pa., July 21.—A survey of the consumer demand for bread is being made here and in 13 other cities of Pennsylvania. The survey is being made by a group of students from the Pennsylvania State college under the direction of H. A. Hanneman of the bureau of markets and the county agents in the various cities.

The survey is intended to disclose the quantity of bread consumed in households, varieties purchased, frequency of consumption at different meals and by the separate members of the family, reasons why bread is or is not eaten, substitutes for bread and whether the consumption has increased or decreased in the last two years.

Prince Carol Prays For Son's Success As Roumanian King

Exiled Heir To Roumanian Throne May Not Attend Father's Funeral

Carol Is Griefstricken; Shows Signs Of Sleepless Nights

By WILLIAM P. CARNEY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1927, by International News Service.)

PARIS, July 21.—Prince Carol, who renounced his rights to the throne of Roumania for love, and abandoned his princess, now prays for the success of his tiny son who has become King Michael I, the Baby King, of Roumania.

Prince Carol, who showed evident signs of a sleepless and restless night, was a grief-stricken figure when he received the International News Service correspondent today, and authorized the following statement:

"I am greatly grieved by the death of my father, which I did not expect so soon and which came as a great shock to me.

"I have the same love and interest in my country that he had and my son has my prayers for his future and the peace and prosperity of our country."

Spends Sleepless Night

With this brief statement the Prince explained that he did not care to discuss the situation in Roumania further, but it was clear that he feels deeply the great burden that has been placed upon the tiny shoulders of his son.

"I am very tired as I wasn't able to sleep at all last night," the Prince observed, and his eyes showed signs of great weariness and grief.

The Prince has given up all hopes that he will be permitted to break his exile to return to Bucharest for the funeral of his father. None of the telegrams he has received have indicated any such possibility and in his telegrams to Queen Marie, and others of his family, it is understood that he has avoided making any requests.

The Prince received a visit early today from his tailor and ordered a number of suits of mourning, most of his present wardrobe consisting of light sports outfits.

Treasury To Terminate National Prohibition Permits On January 1

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Another legal battle between consumers of industrial alcohol and medicinal whiskey, and the government, is in prospect as a result of the decision of the treasury to terminate all permits issued under the national prohibition act, January 1.

Permittees will be required to make application for renewal of licenses, establishing to the satisfaction of the prohibition bureau that they have observed the law and actually require the amount of alcohol or whiskey they seek to withdraw.

Revise Regulations.

Dr. J. M. Doran, prohibition commissioner, announcing the new plan today, said that regulation 61, which governs the use of alcoholic liquors employed for industrial, scientific and medicinal purposes, is now being revised and with the exception of the sections relative to permits probably will go into effect September 1.

After issuance of regulation 61 manufacturers will be given 30 days in which to conform to its provisions.

The regulations will provide for the annual renewal of all permits. This question already has been before the federal courts, several judges in the middle west upholding the treasury in its contention for annual permits, while a New York court ruled adversely. After the adverse ruling the annual permit was dropped. The New York case probably will be appealed to the supreme court by the department of justice, the treasury feeling that to obtain satisfactory law enforcement the perpetual permit system will simplify the process of eliminating alcohol and whiskey consumers who are suspected of being a source of supply to bootleggers. Conditions now existing are held responsible for the great volume of industrial alcohol which is being converted into bootleg liquor.

Doran said that legitimate consumers would not suffer from the new regulation, although in the past many of the big manufacturers have protested against the annual permit.

Other features of the new regulations are aimed also at cutting down diversions. More than half of the work of the prohibition bureau is devoted to the control of legitimate uses of alcohol.

The treasury will place full control of issuance and revocation of permits in the hands of administrators, under a standardized system setting up the same policies in all districts.

New Wilmington Methodists Enjoy Annual Picnic

Congregation Moves To Lakewood For Day; Other Notes

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, July 21.—Baseball, horseshoes and swimming provided the recreation at the Sunday school picnic of the local Methodist church, held at Lakewood beach yesterday. The church folk left here at nine yesterday morning and spent the entire day at the beach. A stunt put on by Mr. James and Mr. Anderson gave the outing a touch of humor in the afternoon.

The men of the church officiated on the different committees that had charge of the picnic. Mr. James is accredited with doing the lion's share of the pre-picnic work.

New Tennis Courts

Post-holes have already been dug and the backstops for the two new college tennis courts are being put up. The courts have been graded, but they have not yet been sufficiently rolled to be played on. However, at the rate that the work is progressing now the two courts will certainly be ready for use by the students in the fall.

These two courts are a part of the battery of 12 planned by the college.

Campfire Girls

Last night the local Watuhivi chanter of the Campfire Girls held a ceremonial at the New Wilmington recreation center here. In the absence of Miss Anne Bucher, the regular guardian of the girls, Miss Theda Hartwell took charge of the meeting.

Miss Peggy Weber, the president of the organization, officiated in her regular capacity and talks were given by Misses Hilda Sharp, Louise Martin and Alda May Hawk.

Tennis Game

Again this Saturday the tennis combine, representing the local club, will journey into the opponents' territory. This week the Grove City netmen will be played on the Grove City College courts. In a recent match the local racquet wielders defeated the Grove City lads, 4-2, but this week the crimson college team will present a strengthened line-up in that Bob Thorne is to play.

It is probable that New Wilmington will miss only one of their stars in Saturday's matches, as Billy Clark is still unable to be out on the courts. The probable line-ups: New Wilmington—Crowe, J. Cummings, Kirkbride, B. Cummings, Barnes and Kuhn. Grove City—Barnes, Thorn, Black, Pell and Park.

Dempsey Urges Friend To Bet Money On Him

Gene Normile Hopes To Regain What He Lost On Dempsey In Tunney Bout

By GEORGE BARRY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 21.—Any doubt that Jack Dempsey really believes he can whip Jack Sharkey tonight was dispelled in the mind of at least one man today.

That man is Gene Normile, who was Dempsey's business manager at the time Dempsey lost his title to Gene Tunney.

Normile revealed today that he bet on Dempsey to win against Tunney despite the fact that Dempsey warned him not to do so.

"I don't feel right," Dempsey told Normile at that time. "I don't want any of my friends to bet on me."

Normile was so sure that Dempsey was going to win that he went out and bet on him anyway.

This monring Normile was called to the telephone. Jack Dempsey was calling him.

"Listen, Gene," said Dempsey, "you bet on me at Philadelphia even after I told you not to do so and you lost considerable money, didn't you?"

Normile pleaded guilty.

"Well, you listen to me this time," went on Dempsey. "I want you to go out and get that money back. Bet on me again—bet all you have and all you can get. I'm going to win. I'm going to knock this fellow out tonight and I want you to get back the money you lost on me before."

Normile already had placed a good sized bet on Dempsey to win. After his talk with him, however, he placed another—and larger—bet.

He is going to follow Dempsey's advice this time.

Believe Wheeler Is Losing His Grip On Dry Organization

Evident To Capitol Speculators That There Is Rift In Organization

May Establish "Dry" Democratic Party If Smith Wins Nomination

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Capital politicians were speculating today as to whether Wayne B. Wheeler, generalissimo of the Anti-Saloon league, is not losing the iron grip he has maintained on the dry organization for many years.

It has become evident that there is a rift in the organization, although to what degree is not apparent to observers. For the first time in months a division of opinion has been revealed between Wheeler and his chief lieutenants, Bishop James Cannon and the Rev. Arthur J. Barton.

Cannon and Barton have collaborated in a state sent broadcast through the south, denying that Wheeler spoke for the league when he declared recently that if the Democrats nominated Gov. Al Smith the "dry Democrats" would be given an opportunity (presumably by the league) to vote for a man of their choice. This was interpreted as a direct threat to organize a "dry Democratic party" should Smith be nominated.

The Cannon-Barton statement set forth that in making this assertion Wheeler spoke "as an individual" and not "for the league". Their statement was issued, it was learned, as a direct result of the storm which the Wheeler declaration stirred up among southern Democrats. Many Democrats even those of dry persuasion, presented what they interpreted as an attempt to "split the party" a year ahead of the nominating convention and league headquarters here have been flooded with protests.

Defeat Proposal To Lengthen Terms

Delegates To Mine Workers Convention Vote Down Elective Proposal

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., July 21.—By a margin of 13 votes out of nearly 500 ballots cast by delegates to the convention of district No. 1 United Mine Workers of America, the proposal to lengthen the terms of the organization's elective officers from two to four years today stood defeated.

The measure was sponsored by the present administration, including Rinaldo Caipellini, president, and Enoc Williams, secretary-treasurer, and was defeated on the argument that the present system of biennial elections was best suited to the needs of the district. Cappellini's forces advanced the argument that the cost of each election, $9500, made bienntial elections prohibitive.

The issue split most of the local delegations, there being few that voted as a unit on the resolution.

Embargo Laid To Fight Beetle

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—Federal officials announced an embargo effective today on all fruit produce from eastern Pennsylvania as far west as Harrisburg and states of Delaware and New Jersey, in an effort to check the spread of the Japanese beetle.

The embargo was declared after an investigation by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

WITH the WOMEN of TODAY

•• BY MRS. LILLIAN CAMPBELL ••

MRS. ARTHUR RINGLAND.

The National League of Women Voters has a new secretary to take the place of Mrs. Herbert Knox Smith of Connecticut, who was forced by ill health to resign. Mrs. Arthur Ringland, a native of California, but now residing in Washington, D. C., was recently elected by the board of directors to fill the post.

Mrs. Ringland has an enviable record of useful service abroad during the World War. It began in Paris in 1917 and ended in Constantinople with the American Relief administration. The children's section of the American Fund for French Wounded was the organization with whom Mrs. Ringland first worked. After the armistice she joined the forces of the American Relief administration and served for two years in Czechoslovakia.

Next came a winter of study in Vienna, then a few months more of administrative work in London this time, and a "day off" for her marriage to Arthur Ringland, another A. R. A. worker. Then a year of intensive labor in Constantinople where Mr. Ringland had charge of the Russian refugee work.

Aside from the league the only other organization to claim Mrs. Ringland's interest is the Girl Scouts' Council of the District of Columbia of which she is secretary.

Royal Household Shrinking.

In England at least the staff of the royal household is shrinking. Queen Victoria had ten maids of honor, Queen Alexandra six. Queen Mary formerly had four. Three have married, leaving only one. Queen Mary also has only 16 ladies in waiting while Queen Alexandra had 24 and Queen Victoria 42.

Saddle Horses To Be Available

Harper Dick To Inaugurate New Line Of Business Here

Airplanes and automobiles are here to stay and the day of the horse, especially for business purposes in the city, is gone, but there is a revival of the demand for horses for personal recreational purposes, according to Harper H. Dick, well known owner of race horses and operator of an extensive drayage business.

To meet the growing demand for riding horses, Mr. Dick is having his stables on East Washington street remodeled and already has a number of saddle horses, three and five gaited. He plans to have at least six such first class saddle horses.

These horses are and will be of the type that all persons can ride and beginning the first of the week, Mr. Dick hopes to have everything in readiness for those desiring to follow this fashionable and healthful activity.

The number of such horses will be increased as the demand is noticed. In view of his ability as a trainer of race horses, Mr. Dick will be in position to maintain a stable of saddle horses that will be satisfactory to those following this activity.

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., July 21.—The corn crop of Mercer county will be as far advanced as it should be for the season by August 1 if the present favorable growing weather for this grain continues is the opinion of Superintendent T. Robbers Abduct County Official

Secure $40,000 From Treasurer On Way To Bank At Sidney, Ohio

SIDNEY, Ohio, July 21.—Escaping with a satchel containing $40,000 in county funds, two young robbers kidnaped Alphonso Berry, treasurer of Shelby county, as he was on his way to the bank late yesterday and carried him about nine miles into the country where, after their search, they threw him from their car.

Berry was thrown from the automobile near Newburn, a negro settlement. He made his way to a farm where he notified officers of the robbery by telephone.

A posse was organized immediately and was started westward in pursuit of the bandits.

The two men were unmasked at the time of the robbery. Berry was accosted by the men in the downtown business section and was forced to enter their automobile.

Differential Rate To Be Abolished

Change In State Workmen's Insurance Fund Rate Is Announced

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—As a result of action taken by Insurance Commissioner Matthew H. Taggart the ten per cent differential between the rates of the state workmen's insurance fund and other workmen's insurance carried in Pennsylvania today was doomed. Commissioner Taggart announced that the differential will be abolished on January 1.

Taggart's action, the most drastic change in the policy of the funds since it was established in 1916 places the state funds on a par with other carriers, and accomplishes an object for which Joseph R. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers association has labored for many years.

Taggart assigned as his reasons for the change in policy the fact that the fund has long since repaid the $500,000 appropriation under which it was started and its annual premium writings have been in excess of $1,000,000.

"The fund has grown to the point where it no longer needs or has a right to expect this diferential." Taggart also pointed out that the fund is a non expense for personnel inasmuch as it is administered by the commissioner of labor and industry, the state treasurer and the commissioner of insurance and uses inspectors of the department of labor and industry together with the state employes to carry on its work.

It was twice before abolished, once by Charles Johnson insurance commissioner in 1916 and once by Thomas B. Donaldson commissioner during the Sproul administration in 1921. These men were both overruled and the rate re-established later however.

Bicycle With Brakes On Both Wheels Is Sent To Local Lad

A few years ago cars with four-wheel brakes were quite a novelty, but soon became common, but a bicycle with "four-wheel" brakes is something new to this country, but this is what Orville Fenati, the five-year-old son of H. M. Fenati, superintendent of the Pearson Brick Company, has just received as a present from his uncle, E. Sgubbi, of Italy.

Although quite common in Italy and other countries of Europe, they are almost unknown in America, these bicycles with four (fore) wheel brakes. The machine that the Fenati lad received was made as a special present by his uncle, who is a bicycle manufacturer in Italy. It has brakes on both the fore and back wheels and these brakes are not coaster brakes in the hub of the wheels, but work on the rim of the inside of the wheel something like a brake on a farm wagon, except they brake on the inside of the rim and not on the tire.

The rear wheel worked on a free-running hub so that when the pedals are held the wheel continues to freely turn, but there is no brake to grip the wheel if the pedals are pushed into the reverse. The brakes are operated by a ever on each of the handlebars, the rear brake operated from the right handle and the front from the left handle. A small wire passes through a cabal and thus puts a pressure on the brake that will stop the wheel almost instantly.

Another feature of the machine is that the back wheel has a sprocket on each side of the hub, one of them free-running and the other solid, and the wheel can be reversed in a moment, using either hub. Both the front and rear wheels are fastened by large nuts which can be unscrewed or fastened by hand, thus eliminating the use of a wrench.

The lad's uncle was so pleased with his nephew's ability to ride when he visited him in Italy last year, the boy then being little over four years old, that he said he would send him a racer. So now the lad is wild with joy to have received the present.

The father yesterday brought the bicycle to show Mr. Kirk of the Kirk, Hutton Hardware Company, and gave permission to exhibit the wheel in the hardware window on East Washington street.

New Process To Make Better Dyes

Scientists At State College Convention Discuss New Process

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., July 21.—Better dyes, more uniform in color and in dyeing properties, will result from the application of newly perfected methods of color analysis, Dr. W. C. Holmes of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, told the institute of chemistry at the American Chemical Society today.

Under the new method dyes can be standardized with greater accuracy than under any other system previously used. The new equipment, Holmes said, is exceptionally convenient with mixtures of dyes. He pointed out that mixtures constitute the great bulk of dyes used.

Dean James Kendall of the New York University, following Dr. Holmes, made the assertion that scientists know less about water than almost any other chemical material.

"We call it H-2O when we are perfectly sure that is not what it is", Dean Kendall said.

What the actual water molecule comprises, and how it is changed by dissolving something in it, are points on which scientists are entirely ignorant, according to Dean Kendall.

The dean predicted a new and sounder chemistry when scientists cease to neglect and abuse water and begin to recognize its proper importance.

Public Flogging Given In Ohio Town

Prisoner Chooses Flogging Instead Of Penitentiary

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio, July 21.—Twenty-one cutting lashes were laid across the back of Ray Wiggins with a five-foot blacksnake whip at San Toy, a mining village, ten miles south-east of here, in what was declared to have been the first whipping post in Perry county's history. And all because he bit off his mother-in-law's ear.

The lashes were laid across his bare back by a strapping miner who led an infuriated mob of 200 men which gathered about Wiggin's prison in San Toy and demanded vengeance for the assault on Mrs. Amanda Taylor, of San Toy.

Mayor C. A. McIntyre made a speech in which he pleaded for law and order. He then rescued Wiggins from the jail and gave him his choice of going to the penitentiary or being publicly flogged.

"Guess I'll take the licking," muttered Wiggins as he looked at the affidavit which Mrs. Taylor had refused to sign and then glanced over the milling crowd.

McIntyre called for a volunteer from the crowd to administer the lashes. A giant miner demanded that he be accorded the privilege.

County Prosecutor J. W. Dugan was consulted as to the legality of the proceeding, and he ruled that primitive punishment would be legal if both parties consented to it.

Wiggins was then brought out and stripped to the waist. The blacksnake was applied. Wiggins nearly fainted when he was released.

"Get out of town in fifteen minutes and don't ever come back."

Farm Agent Warns Spraying Is Needed

Reports received from Philadelphia and State College by County Farm Agent H. R. McCulloch indicate that the early potato fields in the southeastern part of this state are past redemption from damage by potato aphids. This report says that the vines are so matted now that it is impossible to get the booms of the sprayers through them for spraying operations.

"Severe damage could have been avoided," says County Agent McCulloch, "if the growers had heeded early warnings and had sprayed earlier in the season."

Aphids are exceptionally bad on apple trees this season also. Green aphids are so numerous on apple trees that they are leaving the water sprouts to go on the fruit. In many cases the aphids have been noticed going down the trunks of trees, across the ground and up the trunks of other trees. According to authorities, this is the first time in ten years that this performance has been noticed in Pennsylvania.

If the aphids are allowed to develop and work on the apples a pimpling like surface will result in the fruit. Large warts will be raised around the blossom end of the apples. As a result the honey dew on the leaves and the black fungus which grows on this substance will drip on the apples and will make them unsightly.

Wherever the aphids are moving from the terminals to the fruits, the trees should be sprayed immediately, McCulloch says.

The shortest route across the United States is from San Diego, Calif., to Charleston, S. C.—2,152 miles.

Special Program At Scout Camp

Three Hundred Visitors At Camp Phillips Wednesday Evening

OTHER NEWS OF CAMP ACTIVITIES

Every day at Camp Phillips from early morning until late in the evening, is replete with the doings of a constructive program, which comes to an end only with the impressive notes of "silence" and "taps" when all the scouts get in their bunks with the keen satisfaction of new laurels and victories gained.

The high point scorers of the day have been Bob Howe with 220 points to his record and his promotion to be a dweller in the Indian Village, one of the most coveted honors; the other Scout who distinguished himself as the next high point scorer has been Stanley Menner with 170 points.

Another roster of brave Scouts is to be inscribed in the History of Scouting in Camp Phillips and on it are the names of the boys who passed the quite exacting tests of "Junior Red Cross Life Saving." The Examiners were Nicholas R. Casillo of the Camp Staff and Jack Hulme, the well-known swimming instructor at Westminster College. The following scouts were successful and will be authorized to wear the emblem of the J. R. C. L. S., Jack Stone, Jack Stevenson, and Ed Jenkins.

The games were entered into with spirit of sport and competition with a most wonderful weather helping everybody to be at their best. The Daniel Boone team and the Davy Crockett had a lively baseball game, the score being 7 to 8 in favor of the Dan Boone Hut; the team being composed of the following: Sacripant, H. Y., Charbonnier, Howe, Offutt, Johnson, Emery, Gaskell, Close and Kelson. Another baseball game saw the boys of the Dave Thompson and Dan Boones on the field, the Dave Thompson topping by 11 to 5. The victorious team follows: Parker, V. Smith, McLure, Richards, Sowash, Bollinger, Nesbitt, Roxbury, Goff and Nye.

In the inviting recesses of the Indian Village the archers were kept busy trying to perfect their marksmanship until it is on a par with that of the Red Skins. The participants in this contest were from the Dave Crockett and Kit Carson Stockades, and after time was called, the scores stood 52 points for Dave Crockett and 31 for Kit Carson. The archers that excelled were: Dombach, Hadya, Kaplan, Renner Carlson, Ebbert, Henry, Reno, Patterson, and Repman.

The daily camp inspection carried out by the Camp Director Mr. Norton disclosed that the Scouts who kept their hut in the most approved style were the occupants of Mrs. Carrie Poister hut; Bob Domback, assistant stockade leader, Harold Morrison, Stanley Menner, Chas. Hertzog, James Wilson, George Pander, Paul McIlvain, Jesse Hayden, and Robbins Wiggle, Bob Morrison.

In a "Mush Ball" game, Dave Thompson boys and the Indians had an opportunity to show their mettle, and the winners, the Indians, were: Hancher, Jenkins, Stephenson, H. Shannon, E. Shannon, Jameson, Wheeler and Hawkins.

With the setting sun the welcome visitors began to arrive, and it seemed as if the column of people following the winding paths was an endless one, over three hundred men and women to whom Scouting means so much because of their sons took all the seats of the open air auditorium, with scores standing and more than one hundred and twenty five Scouts obligingly offering their seats among the rocks, the trees and with the noises of the forest and the rushing waters of the creek, a majestic fire, like a beneficent spirit of life, was spreading flames, light and sparks, and all felt how wonderful it was.

The program began with the saxophone artists Shorty Infield and Bob Domback in a couple of selections greeted with encores; Stanley Menner delighted every one with his song "A Michigan Scout," followed by Trenton Eckles in a trumpet solo. Fred Kobbe with his harmonica did so well that he was asked for a second selection. A quartette composed of Jim McGeorge, Eugene Repman, Aubrey Reno and William Patterson brought the program, as given by the Scouts, to a close and no doubt, many artists of reputation are in the making among these Scouts facing an audience with the "Sang froid" of seasoned performers. Of course it would not have been a real campfire without a story from Mr. Casillo, who in his inimitable way, and with his pleasing personality can hold the rapt attention of all, young and old. His story had such an appropriate setting, in this rustic amphitheater, that it made a profound impression and when the end came, it was too soon for everybody. The mystery and ghost tale entitled "Dracula" will be remembered and some of its weird characters, like spectres, will loom before us and with them by association the campfire, the impressive site, the stars and the forest with its somber and solemn aspect. Hundreds of people were not ready to leave this great camp so willingingly, and lingered here and there, and only with the dying notes of "taps" did they resolve to leave the boys go to their cots. Another beautiful, inspiring and useful day is over at Camp Phillips.

"Greatest Tunnel" Plan For Piercing Cascades Acted On In Northwest

By ED KAMM.
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 21.—Plans for what would be America's greatest tunnel are being considered by Pacific northwest officials at last, after years of pamphleteering and "missionary work" by the father of the plan, Judge Austin E. Griffiths of the superior court bench of King county, Washington, at Seattle.

The tunnel, costing between $30,000,000 and $45,000,000, would be an 11-mile bore through the heart of the Cascades near Skykomish, Wash.

It would accommodate both rail and auto traffic, including four lines of trackage, to be used jointly by all the northern transcontinental railroads.

Legislature Acts.

Judge Griffiths' plan has been taken under consideration by the Washington legislature, which has appointed a special engineering commission to look further into the scheme. State aid would have to be invoked for construction of the mammoth project, the state renting the privilege of tunnel use to the railroads.

The city of Seattle, a leading seaport serving Alaska and the Orient, is particularly interested in the plan as it would greatly reduce freight rates on grain from the Inland Empire and make Seattle the port for much of this business, which now goes to Portland, Ore., because of a 10 per cent freight rate differential allowed Portland by the Interstate Commerce Commission. This is because wheat shipped to Portland from the Big Bend and adjacent grain country follows the route of the Columbia river and has no mountain grades to climb through the Cascades to the coast.

Dogs Are Chasing Mechanical Rabbits Out At Fair Grounds

Training high-bred greyhounds to chase electrically propelled stuffed rabbits is being done at the present time at the New Castle fair grounds, according to E. R. Krieger and S. H. Shephard, trainers.

These dogs will be entered in races in the larger cities of the country where the sport has become popular. The dogs chase the rabbit which is on a wheel situated on a narrow track although at the present time there are races being carried out where the rabbit is not on a wheel or track increasing the realism of the rabbit. The rabbits are kept about 60 feet ahead of the dogs by an operator who can see the entire track from a tower.

This sport came into prominence in 1919 and ever since its popularity has increased.

Anyone can witness the training of the dogs at the fair grounds free. These men will be there until August 1 at which time they will leave for Louisville to enter the dogs in races.

Golf And Tennis At Y. W. C. A. Camp

The golf and tennis tournaments at the Y. W. C. A. camp at East Brook for the new period were opened this morning. Every time a new group of girls arrive at the camp new tournaments in various sports are opened.

Yesterday about 11 o'clock the girls journeyed to the farm of E. G. Reiber, on the Neshannock road, where they took dinner. After the dinner was over they took a hike down the road and circled around Lakewood, where they stopped over and had a swim. Following this the campers made their way to the camp. Everyone enjoyed a fine time.

Last night was "visitors' night" again. About six visitors were at the camp. Later in the evening a marshmallow roast was held.

Extra Session Of Congress Unlikely—Flood Clamor Dies

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—An extra session of congress, beginning a month or two ahead of the regular program, due to start Dec. 5, looks less likely now than it did earlier in the season.

The main reason why one was urged was to take care of the Mississippi flood situation.

As was to have been expected, the clamor for it subsided as the flood began to subside.

It was a popular thing for the politicians to howl about right at the time, but it lost its appeal as soon as the river gauges stopped recording rising water.

If ever a question promised to furnish raw material for an indefinitely prolonged, meaningless wrangle and a final solution which won't solve anything, it's the question of flood prevention, when it does come up in the national legislature.

Relief and rehabilitation discussions may arrive somewhere, but it's more evident every day that nobody has a scheme to offer that will enable a good plumber to regulate the Mississippi and its tributaries as easily as the water's turned on and off, and even controlled pretty promptly when a pipe bursts, in a fair-sized apartment house.

"This thing never must happen again," was the song they all sang while the overflow was on, but to the query, "How're you going to stop it?" no answer's forthcoming.

The two big "schools of thought" are the levee school—levees will do the business if they're high and strong enough—and the reservoir school—dam all the water up and only let it out to suit everybody's convenience.

The trouble is that each school can prove the other school clean cuckoo.

Then, too, there are plenty of engineers who laugh at both schools impartially and are, in turn, laughed at each by everybody else.

The only outfit which never has been demonstrated "all wet" in its ideas is the one which declares floods are a visitation of providence and absolutely can't be prevented—and naturally nobody at all pays any attention to pessimists like such folks.

While congress probably won't meet in extra session, the senate and house committees on flood control will get together early in the fall and listen to "experts"—the ones who couldn't do anything with the last floods—for 10 or 12 weeks.

In this way some sort of a bill probably will be licked into shape.

The chances are it will be a hodgepodge of about two dozen different "schools" idea, commingled, with due regard for spreading the money it will cost around where it will do most good to the greatest number—for political purposes.

Ultimately some sort of a bill—not necessarily the original one, but one kind of a bill or another—will be adopted by congress.

That's a practical certainty. It isn't going to do to let this last flood pass into history without doing something about it. Nobody knows what, but "something".

Whatever the bill provides for will be started on, and how much of a success it turns out to be will depend on how long it happens to be before another record flood comes along and washes that improvement also on out into the Gulf of Mexico.

In the meantime it will have put a billion or so of dollars in circulation, so somebody will get some good out of it anyway.

4th Death May Put Curb On Fireworks

Another Lancaster Boy Tetanus Victim; City Plans To Make Future July 4's Safe

LANCASTER, July 21.—Stirred by the fourth death as a result of burns suffered on the Fourth of July, city and county officials today tentatively considered plans for making the next Independence Day celebration safe and sane.

Richard Himes, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Himes, died in a local hospital as a result of an infection which developed from a burn inflicted by a blank cartridge. It was the second death from tetanus in twenty-four hours.

Mayor Musser in a statement cited the failure to restrict the sale of firecrackers and arms outside the city. While the sale of firecrackers was restricted to two days in the city, celebrators found it easy to step over the borderline and purchase a generous supply of noise-producing devices for a premature celebration.

Joseph Wissler, district attorney, declared today he is entirely in sympathy with the move to make the next July Fourth safe and sane. He suggested a conference between city officials and representatives of boroughs in an effort to reach an agreement on the sale of fireworks.

The celebration this year was the most destructive in years. Pistols using blank cartridges were used promiscuously. Cartridge burns caused each of the four deaths thus far reported. More than 100 were injured.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21. — Governor John S. Fisher on Wednesday designated four delegates who will represent Pennsylvania at the Congress of the American Prison Association to be held at Tacoma, Wash., August 12 to 18.

Those named were Dr. B. L. Scott, director of the Bureau of Restortation in the Department of Welfare; William F. Penn, Superintendent of the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza; J. I. Coulter, Director of the Western Penitentiary and A. H. Votaw, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Prison Society, Philadelphia.

CORN CROP POOR

(International News Service)

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 21.—Corn in Westmoreland county is in worse condition this year than ever before in the memory of the oldest residents, according to reports received in the office of W. L. Treagor, county farm bureau agent.

Farmers making their reports to Treagor said they believed there would be little prospects of the crop reaching maturity this year, due to the coolness of the early summer.

The reports are more encouraging, however, as far as potatoes, oats and wheat are concerned. These crops, farmers say, will reach maturity with excellent yields.

WHEAT GROWERS: TAKE NOTE

20% BETTER
Than Other Crops

Holcomb, Ontario Co., N. Y.
October 30, 1926

The American Agricultural Chemical Company,
Buffalo, New York

Dear Sirs:

Our wheat brought $1.39 per bushel. I used "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer, 200 lbs. to the acre, and harvested 60 bushels to the acre or 1204 bushels on 20 acres. We consider we were more than 20 per cent better than any grown in this section. We got 20 per cent more yield using "AA QUALITY" than with any other fertilizer we ever used, and we are going to insist on "AA QUALITY" hereafter.

Yours truly,

WILLIAM CREEDON

Definite figures from other farmers in this locality tell the same story. Increased yields per acre; increased profits many times the cost of the fertilizer.

You too can make such increased profits if you select your fertilizer on its crop-producing record. The sure way to do this, is to insist on getting "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers. "Worth more per dollar because they produce more per acre."

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL COMPANY

Look for the "AA QUALITY" seal on every bag of fertilizer. It stands for 60 years of manufacturing experience.

This seal guarantees more than correct chemical analysis—it assures you of proven crop-producing value.

Tells Of Doings At Army Camp

Rookies Are Progressing Montgomery Writes From Ft. Washington

LOCAL ATHLETES GAINING HONORS

By PAUL E. MONTGOMERY
(Special News Correspondent)

FORT WASHINGTON, Md., July 20.—Since the last letter quite a few things have happened. A few of the outstanding things are that Bill Woods of Wildwood avenue, has been elected captain of the Co. K. baseball team. Company K. is leading the camp with three games won and none lost.

Dick Thomas of Edison avenue, is playing first base, and is captain of the team of Company L. He is one of the few boys from New Castle who is not in Company K.

Yesterday afternoon we had a parade in preparation for the regimental review which Maj. Gen. Somerall is holding next Monday. Maj. Gen. Somerall is Chief of Staff, U. S. Army.

The third platoon was complimented especially on the line which it held while passing in review.

Most of the week we have been drilling with rifles, and are now attaining a small degree of uniformity in the manual of arms. Not as yet have we reached the point of perfection of the regulars.

The regular soldiers of the Fort Washington post are the only ones in the country who have the serge uniforms. They are the special pride of President Coolidge, and are his body guard on his official appearances.

Oh, yes! You remember that we have been given instruction about whom we are to salute and when we do the saluting. Well, the other day Ray Garwig of Ellwood City, was on K. P. and a man drove up in a big car. Ray came to attention and saluted. You can imagine Ray's chagrin when the man asked him what the trouble was, for the man in the big car and a good looking uniform was a chauffeur.

Just this morning we were given some instructions in rifle practice—not with shells, but we learned the positions, et cetera. We must put our left arms through the sling, and then the rifle is in such a steady position that one could hardly miss the target after aiming long and carefully. We then would squeeze the trigger and move our gun on the next target, which was anything from an officer to a cream colored mule which we have on the post.

Awkward squads have been formed of the ones who make so many mistakes that the strength of a sergeant's lungs is threatened.

Some of the boys are going on a sight-seeing trip to the Arlington Cemetery and other places of interest in Washington.

The staff here has two more trips planned: one to Alexandria, Va., and the other to Mt. Vernon. These are given free of charge.

At present we are in a quandary over a possible name for the camp annual. If you think of a good name, send it to one of the fellows you know.

1,307 CASES DISPOSED OF

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—Federal courts here disposed of 1,307 cases in the last fiscal year, imposing fines totalling $178,071, U. S. District Attorney John D. Neyer announced. The previous year 967 cases were handled. A majority of the cases now occupying the federal court's attention grew out of liquor law violations, Meyer reported.

"Most Held-Up Banker"

Urges Folk To Hold Hands High And Obey When Bandits Appear; Try To Catch Them Afterwards

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The New Castle News

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Ark., July 21—Storm O. Whaley, named by the American Bankers' Association as the "most held-up banker in the United States," believes in holding his hands high and obeying orders when a serious looking stranger with a big gun suggests it.

As cashier of the Bank of Sulphur Springs, Whaley has been locked in a vault by bandits four times.

"So often that I almost have to wear colored glasses when I go out in the sun," the veteran of hold-ups declares. "In fact I've been figuring on putting a kitchenette into my safe so I can have regular meals on these occasions.

Here are Rules For You

For the benefit of the uninitiated Whaley suggests the following rules of behavior while being held up:

"Keep cool, hold your hands high, and make no motion which might be misunderstood. The bandit is under an intense nervous strain and is likely to mistake the most innocent action and begin to shoot.

"Talk quietly to the bandit if you have to talk at all. It lessens the tension.

"Study his face and compare his appearance with that of someone else you know. Remembering a small mole on one bandit's cheek later made it quite easy for me to identify him in the court room.

Put Away Your Guns

"Don't leave firearms about where excited customers or visitors can grab them.

"If you have a safe or vault, don't throw the door-bolt so it cannot be unlocked without ruining the combination. If the bandit sees fit to lock you in the the safe and cannot open the door, he is apt to shoot you or knock you unconscious.

"Bandits are likely to be young men. The man who asks for change or for some trivial information, and, in the meantime, looks about your office or store with too much deliberation, may be spotting your help and floor plans before beginning a hold-up."

Seems As If a Dream

In describing how he felt during his many hold-ups Whaley says:

"My bank has been held up and robbed four times during the past five years, and every time I have had the feeling that it was all just a dream, or that I was watching a movie, and that nobody really was going to be hurt. It is hard at the time to realize that you are actually being held up and that your life is in danger."

STORM O. WHALEY

The Bank of Sulphur Springs for a long time has been pointed out as a "most-robbed bank." The bank building stands to itself facing a park and the country surrounding the town is rough and hilly and has few roads, therefore offering an ideal retreat for bandits.

St. Paul's Sunday School Has Picnic At Cascade Park

Annual picnic of St. Paul's Lutheran Bible school and congregation was an event of Wednesday afternoon and evening at Cascade park. The affair was one of the most enjoyable held by the church during the year.

An elaborate picnic dinner was served at 6:30 in the grove with places arranged for 350. Park amusements formed the entertainment for the afternoon and evening.

The general committee was comprised of Miss Anna Dietterle, Mrs. Elizabeth Wild and Miss Lillian Hartman.

Elevated Sidewalks New Suggestion To Reduce Congestion

City Highway Engineer At Akron, Ohio, Suggests New Method

AKRON, O., July 21.—Elevated sidewalks, subways and bridges may eliminate vehicular congestion and facilitate and safeguard pedestrians, especially in the down town districts according to the plans proposed by E. A. Kemmler, the city highway engineer.

Kemmler holds that elevated sidewalks would provide additioinal space for vehicles to the extent that congestion would be eliminated for a long period of time. Tunnels under the street and bridges over them would cause foot traffic to move with speed and safety, the engineer believes.

In the near future Kemmler's ideas may be tried on a limited scale, it was learned yesterday from city officials. For the construction of arcade sidewalks on South Main street city engineers are already preparing estimates.

Indenting sidewalks into business buildings will widen the streets the officials explain.

"The time is fast aproaching when Akron must take decisive steps to meet the increasing situation," Kemmler stated.

"The remedy probably lies in unusual innovations commensurate with the age in which we live.'

The heavily travelled intersection of Main and Market streets doubtless will get the first overhead bridges or tunnels to be installed here officials declare.

NEGROES ENTER GUILTY PLEAS

Admit Robbing Store At Wampum When Taken Before Squire

The four negroes—Frank Thomas, Garfield Blanton, George Miller and James Williams—arrested Saturday night in the vicinity of West Pittsburg with the clothing and suitcases stolen from the David Shapiro store in Wampum early Saturday morning, were taken before Squire J. R. Brodbeck of Moravia last night by County Detective William Fleming and entered pleas of guilty to charges of breaking and entering and larceny.

They were remanded again to the county jail after making the pleas and will be up for sentence of the court on Friday morning.

These four men were taken to the Butler barracks of the state police on Monday in the possibility of establishing their identity in connection with other similar crimes, but this was not developed.

POOLS OPEN EVERY DAY

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—Blue laws or no blue laws, Pittsburgh's kids will enjoy their municipal swimming pools on Sunday.

Authorities here have decided to employ life guards and allow the children to enjoy municipal pools every Sunday.

Various associations expressed a fear that it was illegal to engage the life guards on Sunday, and refused to operate the swimming pools under their jurisdiction.

But members of the city council decided that if private pools could be operated for the benefit of those who could afford to pay, the city could at least run the municipal recreation centers on Sundays.

Now the little tots throughout the city are enjoying the refreshing effects of a swim during the hot Sunday afternoons, and no one seems to worry particularly whether the city is to be charged with violating the ancient blue laws.

Nearly 2,000 Babies Are Registered Here In Well Baby Clinic

Babies lean and babies fat, cheerful babies and crying babies, young babies and older babies, all find there way to the Well Baby clinic held on the third floor of the New Castle Dry Goods Company every Thursday morning. Up to the present date there have been over 1,778 registrations during this year.

This clinic, which is free to all those who have well babies, takes care of children from the time that they are born until they reach the school age.

On arriving at the clinic, the mother undresses the baby, it is registered and a record made out both of the baby and of its parents. Then it is weighed and measured and given to the physician in charge for a complete examination.

All sort of children are received at the clinic. No distinction is made for color, creed, or nationality. For the mothers there are posters which illustrate how to take care of the child, food charts, and patterns for the making of the babies' clothes.

The object of the clinic is to keep well babies well. It is conducted under the auspices of the State Department of Health and the Lawrence county Tuberculosis association.

Children from New Castle, children from remote districts of the county and children from Ohio all get the same generous treatment. Dr. Shoaf and Dr. Prioletti, the examining physicians, alternate their services every four months.

The nurses in charge of the clinic are: Agnes McLaughlin, a State nurse, Della Glenn of the Lawrence county Tuberculosis association, and Myra C. Akerman, A State nurse.

On the third floor of the New Castle Dry Goods company's building are the two rooms which are given to the clinic. The store's club rooms are used by the waiting mothers, and baby carriages can be brought directly to the third floor by elevator service.

Pastor Preaches Of Love And Wins Endearing Wife

(International News Service)

WATERTOWN, N. Y., July 21. — While Rev. Dr. Guy Livingstone Brown, 67, pastor of the First Baptist church here, preached from the pulpit to his congregation, certain words were meant only for the ears of a member of that congregation who became so thrilled with his devout teachings that she quietly slipped from a pew of the church during the services, met Dr. Brown in his study while the services were still in session and walked calmly up the center aisle to be married before the astonished worshippers.

The romantic climax of Dr. Brown's wooing of Mrs. Ada Harder Rector, 45, widow and mother of two sons, created such a sensation that members of the congregation were for a moment undecided whether to cheer or keep silent.

Apparently little attention was diverted to Dr. Brown, who silently slipped from his place near the pulpit through a rear door into his study. Soon Dr. Brown and Mrs. Rector walked slowly up the aisle arm in arm. So startled were all the members of the congregation that plainly audible gasps were heard on all sides. Many a neck was strained in an effort to find out "what it's all about."

Dr. Brown and Mrs. Rector paused at the altar, stood calm and alone, as Rev. Dr. Colbrook, of Syracuse, made them man and wife.

Then, with the congregation still in a surprised turmoil, they stood silently to hear the benedictions and received the congratulations of their friends.

Dr. Brown and his bride left on a tour of the Adirondacks immediately following the service. They will spend the summer at Keuka Lake with their children.

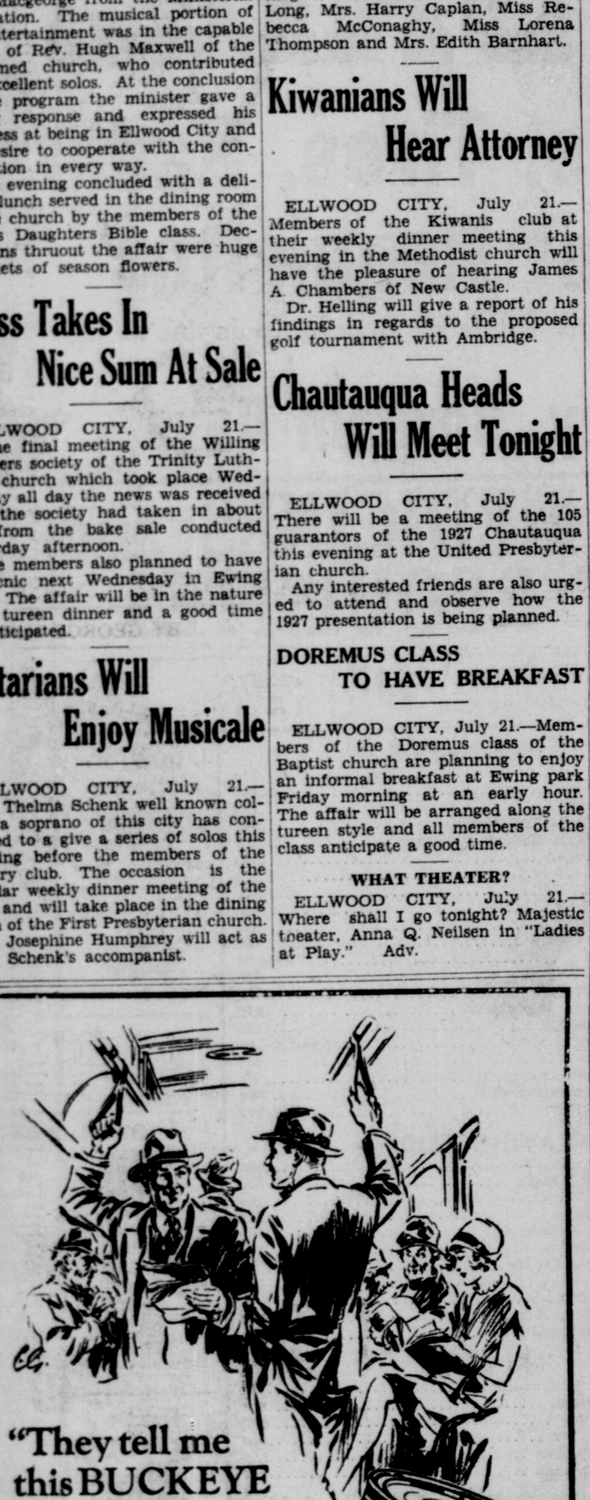
HOSPITAL NOTES.

ELLWOOD CITY, July 21.—Admitted yesterday George Weigle. Discharged William Ritchie, both of Ellwood City.



"They tell me this BUCKEYE is wonderful stuff!"

What can it be that has interrupted the activities of these two strap-hangers. Why, nothing more or less than a reference to malt syrup. To mention malt syrup naturally brings on a discussion of Buckeye, the nation's leading brand — made by master malsters — the Burger Brothers Company. It's wonderful stuff.

Strictly Union Made

Buckeye MALT SYRUP

Hop flavored or plain—Sold everywhere

Laboratory tests have proved that the 2½ pound can of Buckeye Malt Syrup is superior to 3-pound cans of ordinary malt.

Do this for me—take S. S. S. before each meal regularly — and you will soon have your appetite back.

So much depends on your appetite—your strength and vitality—your position—our happiness.

Remember, how it used to be when you could hardly wait for mealtime? And then, sit down and eat several helpings of everything—enjoy every morsel and get up from the table feeling satisfied with the World, happy with everybody and ready for anything.

But what a difference in living when even the sight and smell of food sickens you! Never hungry—no matter how tempting the food is—nothing tasting right. And then, after nibbling at a few bites, feeling worse than ever.

Oh, life is hardly worth living this way. And yet, all in the World the matte with you is that you are starving for rich, red blood. It is acknowledged everywhere that S.S.S. helps Nature build these healthy red-blood-cells by the millions!

All you need to do to get back that wonderful appetite is to build rich, red-blood-cells with S.S.S. It's simple. Just try it, like thousands are doing every day. See for yourself what S.S.S. will do.

S.S.S. means blood with a punch—brimful of new life and energy. Get your S.S.S. at any good druggist. The larger size is more economical.

City Roof Gardens For Play Grounds Boston Health Plan

(International News Service)

BOSTON, July 21.—Establishment of municipal roof gardens for the use of children of the city in connection with health programs will be undertaken by the Boston health department this summer. Children who are below the average physical standards will receive the benefits of the new elevated playgrounds.

The 'health roofs" will be located in centralized sections of the city and elaborate plans for their conduct are being formulated by Dr. Francis X. Mahoney, city health commissioner and recognized authority on the care of youngsters.

The chief purpose of the roof playgrounds according to the commissioner is to insure the children of good health before they enter school in the fall. In this way it is hoped that hitherto backward children who are so because of ill-health will be more progressive in their studies.

A study of landscapes will be made before roofs for the new playgrounds, are selected Uninspiring scenery, will be screened off from view. Effort will be made to have great views of the habor as a natural picture for the children to gaze upon as they participate in the health building play.

It is planned to confine admission to the roof playgrounds to children ranging from five to twelve years.

Annual Picnic Of Lions' Club

About 150 Gather At Lakewood Beach On Wednesday Afternoon

Members of the Lions club with their wives, ladies and children numbering in all about 150 enjoyed a picnic at Lakewood Beach, near Eastbrook, Wednesday afternoon and evening, July 20.

It was the largest picnic ever held by the local Lions club and in matters of good fellowship, and the true spirit of Lionism, it was by far the best. Even the weather co-operated to make the day a success, the sun shining benignly on the merry-makers throughout the afternoon and evening.

An afternoon of sports was arranged by the committee consisting of several baseball games, in which some sizzling playing was shown, picturing just what the Lions used to do on the diamond in the early days when they were in their youthful prime. Horseshoes also occupied the attention of many and prizes for this sport were won by Charles Kimmel and C. R. McCombs. Book ends with the Lions insignia were the awards.

Boating and bathing also were popular both afternoon and evening many of the ladies and children also taking a cooling dip in the lake. The swings, the pony and other amusements also helped to entertain the cubs present.

Round and square dancing was the final pleasure of the evening with piano and radio music.

The committee in charge of the dinner in action went far ahead of expectation. It more than made good in providing the good things of the season for the sharp appetites of the picnickers. Not only in quality but in quantity there was more than sufficient for everyone. Candy favors were also given the ladies and children.

The picnic on Wednesday took the place of the regular meeting for the week, the Tuesday assembly being dispensed with. The regular Lions will meet next Tuesday, July 26 as usual at the Elks club. Rev. S. L. Maxwell will be the speaker of the day.

Atlanta To Honor Gen. John B. Gordon

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, July 21.—An association to perpeuate the memory of John B. Gordon, famous Confederate general, has been formed here. A committee, headed by former governor Hugh M. Dorsey has been appointed to raise $50,000 to purchase and recondition "Sutherland" the ancestral home of the confederate general in Kirkwood.

The estate which comprises approximately 21 acres upon which is situated the beautiful old antebellum home of General Gordon, is being held by the present owners for $40,000, and it is estimated that an additional $10,000 will be necessary to put the house and grounds in repair.

Good intentions that fail to keep a man out of trouble usually do not go far in getting him out.

Swarms Of Bees Have Been Noted About County

During the last bright summer days several swarms of bees have been noticed in different parts of Lawrence county, some of which have been captured by bee men and housed in a new home.

Often a swarm of bees gets away from the owner's property and are far away before they land. Since they wear no license number, they are considered the property of those who care to hive them.

Charles N. Greene, state apiary inspector of the Pennsylvania Bureau of Plant Industry, tells us that bees break up housekeeping for one of nature's three reasons. He says they swarm, first, to replace an old queen; second, to provide room for rearing new brood; third, to provide storage for incoming nectar.

Mr. Greenen has found that bees exercise real foresight before they swarm. They load themselves with honey which is taken from open cells, so that they will not have to go hungry in case they are not successful in promptly finding a new home. Bees usually fly only a short distance after leaving the hive; they have been known to hang on a limb of a tree for 24 hours before leaving for a more appropriate home. By the time they are ready for their second flight they have very little food left and being lighter they fly a much greater distance, often a mile or more.

"The most peaceful way to recover them is to make sure they are not hungry", Mr. Greene says. "Feed them all the honey they want and they will not sting. The best substitute for the best honey and always available is granulated sugar and water.

"The bees should never be hived in an old hive. Secure a modern movable frame hive, one that meets all the requirements of the state bee law, and place it near the swarm. Shake the bees into a basket and then place a few of them near the entrance to the hive. Once a few have entered, the rest will follow like sheep. The queen goes with the bunch, but rarely leads them."

The Mason and Dixon line is only 244 miles long, extending westward from the Delaware river between Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Ex-Champion Will Attempt Comeback

Young Mr. Sharkey Feeling Fit; Ready To Give Dempsey Hard Fight

Expect 80,000 To Witness Gruelling Bout In Yankee Stadium

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

NEW YORK, July 21.—The beggar of the Bible stood with hands upraised in supplication, asking only a crust from the rich man's table and he got not a crumb.

Tonight, that beggar will live again in a man who will shock from his sleek young body silken garments of a minor society darling, and, standing semi-naked in the glare of the Kleigs, beg at the gates of public opinion for the thing he once held. Tonight at the Yankee stadium, Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, will make the great attempt to re-travel the road he followed so blithely eight years ago, a road that led to honor and glory and wealth and pain.

Youth vs. Age.

Just a weary, laden traveler now, laden with the years, and the first man that will cross his path is a youth, rollicking, joyous. If one didn't know, they might mistake the meeting as one between Dempsey and his own youth.

Jack Dempsey, the come-back, and Jack Sharkey, the come-ahead, will meet tonight in a 15-round bout to settle the identity of the official challenger for the heavyweight title.

Just a prize fight, perhaps, but 80,000 persons will see it and a flood of gold will fill the coffers of those so engaged. Dempsey, tacitly trying to regain the honor he held from 1919 until 1926, will be persuaded to accept a guarantee of $250,000 for his pains and Sharkey's end hardly will be worse than $200,000.

Just a mere contest of brawn, maybe, but the public officially will pay the non-championship record sum of $1,200,000 for seeing it, and unofficially almost any sum the mind can conjure. For somehow, totally unaccounted for, as usual, ticket speculators have come upon many of the choice seats and those at the best list price of $27.50 were selling today in the hundreds of dollars.

Yes, it may be that this only a prize fight but the world itself will be in a hush while it is on, whether your world happens to be State and Madison streets, Chicago, the Rue de la Paix, Pall Mall, a little prairie town in the coal oil circuit or the sunlit plaza of Rio. For the moment this gallant and very appealing figure who once was great and the youth who soon may be, will hold the center of the stage and the world will be their audience.

Dempsey is Attraction.

Dempsey, even in his declining years, is the great attraction even as he was in his youth. He slipped into town from his training camp at White Sulphur Springs late yesterday and, with great stealth and circumspection, contrived to escape the mob long enough to reach the home of Leo P. Flynn, his manager. Inside of 15 minutes a crowd of 5,000 had gathered at the doors and it required the strong-arm work of a traffic squad to clear the street of the curious.

Dempsey!

The man in the street is crazy about him today, intrigued with the notion of the ex-champion's attempt to re-assert himself.

Dempsey!

Every woman, it seems, is hoping against hope that the old king will ascend his throne for woman is a sentimentalist always and romance is her life.

But romance doesn't make the betting odds and the price on Dempsey against Sharkey was a long one. Some even quoted it as long as 2 to 1.

Odds are made by men who try hard not to guess wrong and most of them remember the fact that Dempsey is 32 and Sharkey 24; that Dempsey has fought 11 and a fraction rounds since 1923 and Sharkey some

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 21.—Warm, hazy weather prevailed this morning, indicating that conditions for the Dempsey-Sharkey fight tonight would be favorable. There was no hint of rain.

Locals Defeat Elks, 9 To 0

"Lefty" Feigert Permits Four Hits As New Castle Wallops Elks

"Lefty" Feigert southpawed the Beaver Falls Elks into submission last night on the Elks' grounds and the locals ran away with a kalsomine victory of 9 to 0. Feigert limited the Elks to four hits.

It was the second straight victory for the locals over Beaver Falls inside of a week. Last Saturday the New Castle boys hung a defeat on the Harvey aggregation at Centennial field.

The Elks could not solve the delivery of Feigert, while on the other hand the curves of Whitmore failed to baffle the hard hitting locals, who garnered 12 safe swats. New Castle bunched their hits in the first, fourth, sixth and seventh to tally their runs.

The New Castle team scored three runs in the eighth inning and had several men on bases when Umpire Daugherty decided that it was too dark to play ball and called the game. The score at the end of the playing time was 12 to 0, but the tally reverted back to the seventh stanza.

McCullough and McCoy with three hits apiece led the New Castle attack on Whitmore. Hunt and DeMont also hit timely for the New Castle boys. Pearson with two hits was the big sticker for the losers.

Incidentally it was the first defeat of the year for the Elks on their own backyard, and also the biggest score turned in against them this season.

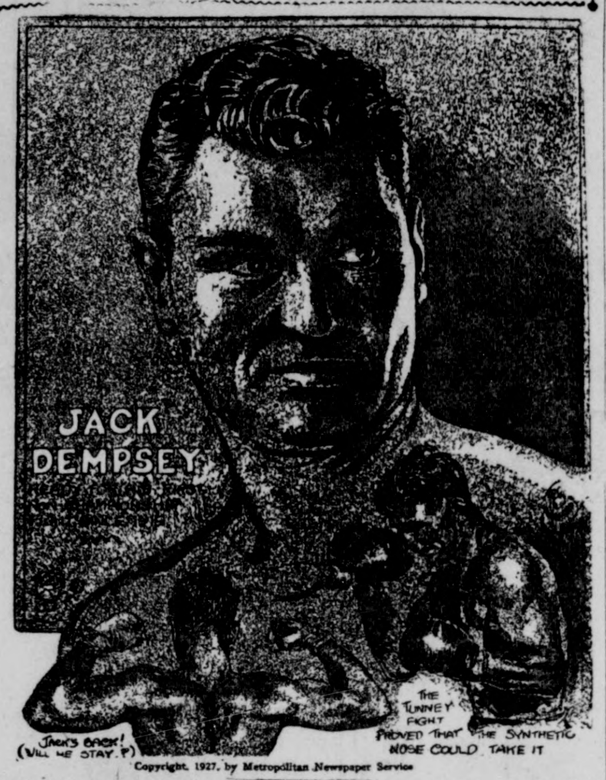
Comeback Jack — By Feg Murray



Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Out of the mass of blah and more blah that has been written about the "comeback" activities of ex-champion Jack Dempsey, one or two facts stand out in bold relief upon which to base any opinion on the chances of the Manassa Mauler's success in his fight with Sharkey tonight. One is that Jack is better fixed mentally for his coming bout. This is due to two things—the lack of any concerted drive against him financially by his former manager, Jack Kearns, and the other is the fact that he is no longer carrying the responsibility of being champion and defending a title. The tragedy of his brother's death was a set-back certainly, but it seems to have only spurred him on to harder work.

Another fact that has been gratifying to Dempsey's friends and backers is that, in acquiring the services of Leo P. Flynn as his manager, he not only relieved himself of all worries concerning the details of running his training camp affairs, but he also put himself in the hands of one of the shrewdest men connected with the ring—a man who realized immediately that the ex-champion had changed his style and so set about trying to resurrect the old Dempsey at once.

Rest assured that you will see a better man as ex-champion in the ring against Sharkey tonight than the champion who fought Tunney. He won't be the weaving, bobbing, mankiller of eight years ago, or even four years ago, but he'll be a much more refreshing sight than the sluggish Dempsey of the Sesqui battle. The Dempsey of tonight will try hard enough, don't worry about that, and he'll be in good shape mentally and physically, with plenty of strength and stamina and speed—and he'll have it on Sharkey in experience—but will enough of the old Dempsey fighting form be with him to beat his formidable opponent? That is the main question.

FEG MURRAY SAYS—

"Extra—Extra—big fight called off! Jack Sharkey goes cuckoo trying to have the last word with an echo!"

New Castle To Play Cleveland Tellings Two Games Saturday

Locals Hope To Annex Pair Of Victories Over Cleveland Team

Jamieson And Meis Will Pitch For New Castle; Cleveland Strengthens

By "BUGS" WALTHER

The New Castle-Youngstown team will carry their fight for the pennant in the second-half of the O. & P. league to Centennial Field on Saturday afternoon. The Cleveland Tellings are listed for a twin-bill. The first game starts at 2 o'clock.

The locals with their recently revamped lineup are playing a real brand of baseball. The most pleasing feature of the team at the present time, is the fact that they are hitting the ball.

A glance at the box-scores of the recent New Castle-Youngstown games will show that the locals have outbatted their opponents in almost every instance. In Beaver Falls last night the boys collected twelve safe swats.

Mark Jamieson and "Molly" Meis are ready and waiting to hurl the double-header here Saturday. Both boys have had plenty of rest and they are anxious to add two more victories to the win column. The Cleveland Tellings, it is understood have added several new men to their lineup in the hope of strengthening them for the second-half of the league race.

Tellings Add Strength

It will be recalled that the Tellings lost a double-header in their last appearance at Centennial Field. The Tellings in the first-half did not have what one could call a winning pitcher. With the breaking up of the Youngstown team, the Tellings grabbed Johnson, a clever right-hander who has been winning games for the Clevelanders. Johnson will more than likely hurl one of the games here on Saturday.

Saturday is the day on which the automobile will be raffled off by the New Castle team. The holder of the lucky number that wins the machine must be at the park.

With New Castle fighting for the flag in the second-half of the race, the patronage should increase. The locals have a fine club at present, and the lineup, according to the views of many, is one of the best that ever represented this city.

The first baseball game to which admission was charged was played in 1859 at the Fashion race course on Long Island between teams representing New York and Brooklyn. The admission fee was 50 cents, and more than 1,500 people paid this price to see the game.

Lehigh Team Takes Another Victory

The Lehigh Portland Cement team defeated the Wilder-Conover team 12 to 4 in a game played last night at the Lehigh field.

Rich and Witherow were the opposing pitchers with honors going to the former who allowed but seven hits and fanned four men. The feature of the game was the sensational fielding of Cutler the Lehigh center fielder, who turned in two different catches of hard hit liners.

The batting of Ross and Rich was a big item in the Lehigh attack.

Jack Kearns Picks Sharkey As Winner

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 21. — Jack Kearns picks Sharkey!

The ex-manager of Jack Dempsey could see today no other result than a defeat tonight for the man he managed into the heavyweight championship, lost on the broad seas of matrimony and whom he harrassed with deputy sheriffs before Dempsey's losing fight in Philadelphia with Gene Tunney last September.

"If any man knows Dempsey, I do," said Kearns today, newly arrived from abroad. "He's all through, he's shot. I don't think he even will be fifty per cent of the man who lost to Tunney last year."

If the St. Louis Browns were as strong in the box as they are at bat, Manager Howley's team would be winning games instead of losing.

Must Inveigle Sharkey Into Slugfest In Early Rounds

Longer Fight Goes The Less Chance He Has To Come Back

By ED. FRITZ

Armed with good intentions, fortified with a stout heart and a punch, not as powerful as he wielded at Toledo and Boyles Acres but still sufficiently soporific to knock out a foe, Jack Dempsey, the fighter who was, will attempt a comeback against Jack Sharkey tonight at New York City.

The history of the prize ring is "They never come back" and while it may be recalled that a few have punched or edged their way back into the championship the average from the day Mendoza laced his breeches, preparatory to a battle, is all against the Man Who Hopes and the Man Who Was.

There have been thousands of words sent from the training camps of both fighters. Some writers have played the safe and sane by refusing to "call the turn." Training camp attaches have written their stories, evidently with the main desire to not cast cold water on the man with whom they trained.

Youth vs. Age

On account of the manner in which many of the so-called experts bunked the public when Dempsey trained for Tunney, the average fan doesn't give a continental what the experts write and the only thing they can wager on is: "Can youth beat age?" That's the main point in tonight's fight.

Personally the writer believes Dempsey has a chance, despite the opinions of experts. Any man who can hit has a chance—all of the time he is on his feet. A point landed on the vlunerable spot may chance a prospective winner to a decided loser. However, Dempsey's chance, an outside chance must come early in the fight.

Should Sharkey tear into Dempsey at the start of the fight the ex-champ would be on even ground with the title contender. Dempsey should be able to step six rounds at a fast gait and retain sufficient strength to deliver a deadening wallop, if he hits a vulnerable spot.

Providing they both stand up and slug it out, we'll pin to Dempsey for the first few rounds but if the fight goes over six we believe that with each succeeding chapter the edge will swing to Sharkey who is young, clever, tough and a fair puncher.

Pirates Split With "Phillies"

Philadelphia Takes First Game, 4-3, And Loses Second, 6-5

SPROUT WANER GETS FIVE HITS IN SECOND

PHILADELPHIA, July 21.—The Pirates and Phils split even in a doubleheader yesterday afternoon, Pittsburgh losing the first game, 4 to 3, and Philadelphia losing the second, 6 to 5.

Mitchell outpitched Dawson in the first game and Philadelphia made their winning run in the eighth when Spalding, Williams and Leach scored.

The Pirates tried to overcome the lead in the first of the ninth, but after Traynor scored Paul Waner and Groh, Cronin batted for L. Waner, fanned and the game was over as far as victory was concerned.

In the second contest Hill occupied the mound for the Pirates, while Scott, Sweetland, Willoughby, Ulrich and Decatur were used by the Phils in an effort to take the last game.

Their efforts were not crowned with success and the stick of Sprout Waner had much to do with the Pirates' victory. He got five hits in six times at bat.

Up to the fourth the Phils were ahead, 2 to 1, but in the fourth the Pirates got two runs and scored again in the sixth. The Phils scored two in their half of the sixth and their fifth in the last of the ninth, which was one less than needed.

The only home run of the day was made by Williams in the second game.

KNEW HIS MEAT

"Why, pa, this is roast beef!" exclaimed little Willie at dinner one evening when a guest of honor was present.

"Oh course, what of it?" said his father.

SORDS POINTS

Tigers Must Have Tasted Some Raw Meat

By JOHN SORDS

It is generally conceded, in view of their long lead, that the New York Yankees are "in," as far as the American League is concerned. But strange things happen, especially in baseball, and there is a bare possibility that the end of the season may find the Yanks fighting it out tooth and nail.

By the way the Tigers have been cutting up lately they evidently have their eye on something at the top of the ladder. At any rate they show spurts at times that look as if they really intend to do something.

Whatever George Moriarty promised or whatever he threatened, the club has improved considerably since early season. The pitchers are coming through in better shape and are supported in big time fashion.

If the Tigers can keep consistent pitching they will be extremely dangerous. They have everything else. They have the power. But all the punch in the world will not win ball games if the flingers fall down on the job. Lately, Moriarty has received considerable encouragement from several members of the staff and consequently the club, in a short time, has risen from down below the .500 mark to an honest-to-goodness contender.

Kenneth Holloway, with the Tigers since 1923, seems to have mastered the knack of winning games and his example is being followed by the rest of the pitchers who occasionally turn in helpful contributions.

Harry Heilmann is rapidly rising to his usual high position among the batters and Gehringer's all-around work is one of the bright spots of the "new" Tigers. After Gehringer selected a nice, comfortable position on the Tiger bench, McManus was forced out of the game by illness. This gave Charley his opportunity. And how he grabbed it. His hitting, fielding, and base running have been everything that befits a star.

With Gehringer the whole infield improved. In short, pitching, batting and fielding are working in perfect co-ordination. When the batters bat, the pitchers pitch and when the pitchers pitch, the fielders field. The erratic fielding and bad pitching so notable in the early days of the season have given way to a balanced team.

Hutnick Hurls Four-Hit Game As P. R. R. Team Downs Indies In Fast Contest

The P. R. R. boys hung a 10 to 2 defeat on the Independents in a Lawrence county league game played at the E. & A. grounds on Wednesday night. Steve Hutnick on the knoll for the P. R. R. limited the Indies to four hits.

The railroaders started things in the first chapter by socking the ball hard enough to produce four runs. Three more runs in the third frame put the game on ice.

The Indies could not solve the delivery of Hutnick with any effectiveness. Augostine and Norris divided pitching duties for the Indies and were touched for 11 hits.

Among the Burmese an idea exists that people born on the same day of the week should not marry, or misfortune will be their lot. In order to prevent these unfortunate marriages every girl bears a record of her birthday in the initial letter of her name, each day of the week having a letter belonging to it, and all children are called by a name which begins with the letter associated with the day upon which they were born.

HALL of FAME

By NORMAN E. BROWN

Nominating JOHNNY MILJUS

Because the Pittsburgh Pirates recently bought him from the Seattle club and paid part of the price with a "house".

Because he comes back to the majors after failing to make the grade with the Giants in 1915 and Dodgers in 1917.

Because he was one of the leading hurlers in the Coast League when the recent deal was made—with 13 victories and four defeats.

Because he is one of the "vets" of the game who was mixed up in the old Federal League back in 1915, but is still young in years.

Because the Pirate bosses believe he'll be worth the $17,000 cash they paid for him, in addition to player Ed. House, a college rookie, if he delivers a victory now and then in the last half of the season.

And because his purchase shows that major league clubs can buy strengthening material if they go into the open market with the desire and some cash.

30 or less in the last nine months; that Dempsey has spent 12 hard, cruel years in the ring and Sharkey three; that Dempsey never was good with a fast man and that Sharkey is all of that, and that, while Sharkey has been none too impressive in training, Dempsey actually was forced to the unprecedented action of abandoning nearly all ring work six days before the fight.

But most of all they remember the floundering walloping Dempsey of the Tunney fight last September, the Dempsey who landed one good punch in ten rounds and then forgot to do anything about it. And they are asking themselves if such a man can be a great deal better for the passing of another year in his life. Some say yes and some say no but none deny the fact that he must be considerably better in order to have a chance with any good heavyweight and Sharkey's successive fights with Harry Wills, Mike McTigue and Jim Maloney have seemed to indicate that he qualifies for that distinction.

These questions will be answered only at the Yankee stadium tonight. The main bout will go on at 10 o'clock eastern daylight time, and if any more color may be added to an attraction involving the comeback of a popular idol and the onrush of a garrulous, smart, crackling young man who can fight the boxing commission must get the credit. That august body has decreed that the noble gladiators must appear in trunks of high visibility and distinctive design in order that the sap in the 60th row may know immediately who is hit and by whom.

Both Retire Early.

Dempsey's colors will be red and black, with possibly an impromptu design over the eye; Sharkey will wear purple and blue on his trunks and possibly a permanent sock on his chin.

After a light dinner at a local country club Dempsey retired early and is said to have spent a restful night at Flynn's home, to which he had retired to elude the process servers of his old manager, Jack Kearns. Sharkey, after indulging in light exercises and a poker game, slept at his local hotel.

Both indulged in short walks this morning and then rested while awaiting the official weighing in, which is an empty formality in any heavyweight bout. Sharkey expects to scale about 193 and Dempsey more than 195.

After that, there will be nothing for it but the long, tedious, trying vigil of those who await their fate. What will it be? It may be just another step toward the goal that now looks so large before the eager, larking young man who was glad to swab a deck four years ago. Or it may mean that he must start anew, as youth can and will.

To the beggar in purple, asking for his crust, it may mean a banquet, or it may mean not even a crumb.

Cubs-Pirates In Close Race

Pirates In First Place By One Point Over Hustling Cublets

GIANTS CONTINUE TERRIFIC STRIDE

By LES CONKLIN.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 21.—Although both clubs are being buffeted about like cripples at a bargain sale the Pirates and Cubs are continuing their close battle for National league supremacy with the lead changing hands almost daily. Today the Pirates are in front by a margin of one point, as they split a twin bill with the Phillies yesterday while the Cubs lost to the Giants 5 to 4.

Pinch Hitter Ott's single with the bases jammed in the ninth won for the Giants and gave them the series four games to two. Jackson hit two home runs, making it four during the series and Hack Wilson of the Cubs walloped his 16th homer.

Old Clarence Mitchel of the Phils won a 4 to 3 duel from Joe Dawson, Pittsburgh's high-priced rookie. In the nightcap, five successive hits by Lloyd Waner featured Pittsburgh's 6 to 5 victory while Cy Williams, home run king of the National league walloped his 20th homer.

Both the Cardinals and the Robins got grand pitching in a double header in Brooklyn. Jess Petty won a 2 to 1 decision from Flint Rhem in the opener on Deberry's triple. In the nightcap two runs in the 11th when Frisch stole home, gave the Cards a 3 to 1 verdict.

Jakie May of the Reds subdued the Braves 4 to 2 but in the nightcap Joe Genewich nipped Cincy's winning streak by limiting the Porkville boys to four hits and winning 2 to 1. Arthur Nehf, starting a game for the first time in many moons made a gallant comeback effort but was what is scientifically known as a tough spot.

In the only game played in the American league the Senators whipped the White Sox 5 to 3. Tris Speaker er broke up a Chicago rally with a great catch and throw to the plate.

Elizabeth Ryan, one of America's greatest woman tennis players, has won the most of her tennis laurels abroad.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The part that capable pitching plays in the making of a pennant winning team has long been a much mooted question. Some critics have asserted that the hurling has comprised 75 per cent of the defensive strength of the team.

While the case of the Chicago White Sox throws little light on this question, generally speaking, the sad predicament of the team—while boasting the two biggest winning pitchers in the circuit, is worth attention.

In Thomas and Ted Lyons the Chicago club has the two best hurlers in the circuit, in number of victories and percentage (up to a recent date at least). Yet the club is fighting desperately to remain in first division. This after getting away to a start that shook the league for a time and sent the team soaring into the thick of the pennant fight.

A general batting slump, failure of other hurlers to come through consistently to help Thomas and Lyons, and trouble with his infield have handicapped Schalk and his team.

Outdoor lawn tennis played at night by means of flood lights has been tried out in Salt Lake City with much success.

Do Clothes Make This Man?

A Disputed Matter Settled for All Time

Take a good look at the picture above. There's your answer: Faultless evening clothes are powerless before a face like that. No, sir, clothes do not make the man——And neither does a fancy label in red, blue or pink make a can of malt. It's the man inside the clothes and the malt inside the can that counts. What's inside a Puritan Malt can? HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

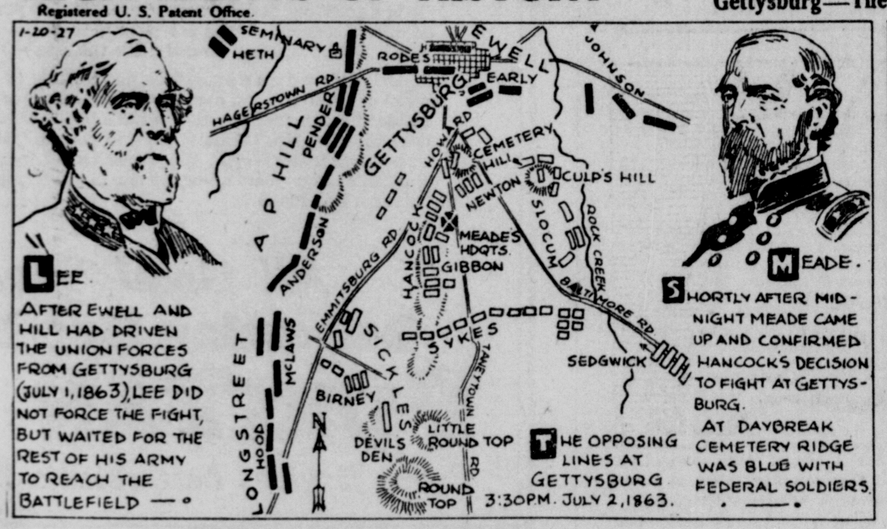
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Gettysburg—The Opposing Armies.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD



LEE. AFTER EWELL AND HILL HAD DRIVEN THE UNION FORCES FROM GETTYSBURG (JULY 1, 1863), LEE DID NOT FORCE THE FIGHT, BUT WAITED FOR THE REST OF HIS ARMY TO REACH THE BATTLEFIELD —

THE OPPOSING LINES AT GETTYSBURG 3:30PM. JULY 2, 1863.

SHORTLY AFTER MIDNIGHT MEADE CAME UP AND CONFIRMED HANCOCK'S DECISION TO FIGHT AT GETTYSBURG. AT DAYBREAK CEMETERY RIDGE WAS BLUG WITH FEDERAL SOLDIERS.

BY THIS TIME ALL OF LEE'S FORCES WERE WITHIN STRIKING DISTANCE. THE CONFEDERATES WERE HOLDING A CONCAVE LINE THAT STRETCHED WESTWARD FROM BEFORE CULP'S HILL, THROUGH THE TOWN, AND TO THE SOUTH ALONG THE CREST OF SEMINARY RIDGE, FACING THE FEDERAL LINES ACROSS THE EMMITSBURG ROAD.

GEN. LONGSTREET BELIEVED THE UNION POSITION WAS TOO STRONG TO BE ASSAULTED AND URGED LEE TO MAKE A FLANKING MOVEMENT TO THE SOUTH OF CEMETERY RIDGE, WHICH WOULD PLACE THEIR FORCES ACROSS MEADE'S COMMUNICATIONS. LEE, HOWEVER, THOUGHT THIS PLAN IMPRACTICABLE, AND, ENCOURAGED BY HIS SUCCESSES OF THE DAY BEFORE, RESOLVED TO ATTACK THE FEDERALS WHERE THEY STOOD.

CONTINUED TOMORROW.

Michigan In Dispute Over Ownership Of Lake Shore Lands

(International News Service)

LANSING, Mich., July 21.—Removal of millions of dollars' worth of property, mainly dancing pavilions, from the shores of Lake St. Clair and the Great Lakes bordering on Michigan may follow action taken by the Conservation Commission.

The commission made a formal request for W. W. Potter, attorney general, for an opinion as to the state's rights in relation to buildings constructed autside the meander line of the lakes as shown by the United States survey. At the time the survey was made the shores of the lakes were much farther inland than at present. The commission contends that all of the land between the old shore line and the boundaries belong to the state.

The request grew out of an opinion Potter had given, holding that the commission had no power to give leases to properties outside the surveyed meander line.

Former Champion Yearns For Fame

By E. H. FRITZ

Although there are many more problems more important to New Castle the one that is causing the most conversation here today is the Dempsey-Sharkey fight scheduled for tonight at New York.

While the majority, and it is a big one, believe that Sharkey will win from the former champion, the fact remains that the same majority would like to see Dempsey defeat his youthful opponent.

The reason for this is that since the day Dempsey stepped into the ring he has been a fighter who has asked no quarter, requested no mercy and been proclaimed a "superman."

Despite his defeat by Gene Tunney and the loss of the championship there has been a certain "something" about him that fans can not forget—hence his trip once more to the ring.

There have been all sorts of stories afloat—some saying he has been dissipating, others declaring he is a "hollow shell" of his former self. Naturally, he is not near as good as he was at Toledo.

People who know anything at all about pugilism understand that no man can through the rigors of training and the hardships of battle if they have dissipated.

Fans Like Dempsey

Most pugilists follow the adage: "A clean body begets a clean mind" and while there have been sordid affairs in the ring they generally have been created by the "hangers-on."

Tonight Dempsey will enter the ring, not a favorite in the betting but a favored one to win—if the fans of the nations had their choice.

Jack Sharkey is a youth—25. He has beaten almost every man he has fought. Some have been good, others poor, but among the good ones were men who clamored and were not given a chance at Dempsey.

Jack is entering the ring confident of his success to beat Dempsey. Dempsey believes he can beat Sharkey. Some fans say Sharkey will win; others claim Dempsey will win.

The foregoing reasons explain why Tex Rickard is promoting the show and why the promoter, managers, fighters and commercial interests of New York will cut into a big juicy financial melon.

Some people ask why Dempsey is fighting—as he is worth a million dollars, has arisen from a "hobo" to a "gentleman of leisure." There are several answers to this question.

The first is that Dempsey has been a champion and knows the pleasure and fondling by the public that goes with the title. As an ex-champion he knows his fame will sink.

Then there is Mrs. Dempsey—or, Estelle Taylor, of "movie fame." As an ex-champ his fame cannot help her in the movies but as "the wife of the champion on the silver sheet"—that's different.

Can Aid Estelle

Dempsey with his title and Estelle Taylor with the added notoriety she will gain, should he win from Sharkey and later from Gene Tunney would prove a big, apt "movie attraction" at the box-office.

Jack needs cash. True, it is, he is worth a million but his money is tied up according to reports and perhaps some local men who are "property poor" realize why he has an ambition to come back.

And take Rickard, the promoter. He knows of the glamour that surrounds Dempsey, the "man who was and the man who hopes to come back." The appeal to the public is stronger than for the "man who hopes."

Dempsey has been training hard; likewise Sharkey. It would be foolish for anyone who has not seen them in action recently to say "I'm sure he will win."

Their best opinion, like ours, is merely a guess.

On paper, Sharkey with his 25 years should defeat Dempsey with his 32. However, our opinion, though it may be wrong, that Dempsey has an outside chance, is based on punch.

Dempsey can punch harder than Sharkey. Of course, his blows will not be timed as good or delivered as strong as the day he smote the big Kansan, Jess Willard.

May Grow Conceited

But we're hanging to the hunch that Sharkey may want to show the fans that he can punch with Dempsey as soon as the bell rings in the first round.

Dempsey, at 32, has trained hard and should be able to go at a fast speed for a few rounds. If he does and he "nails" Sharkey over the heart, in the stomach or on the jaw, Sharkey will go down.

Should Sharkey box Dempsey, play smart, and stay away from him for the first six rounds the chances are that he will decisively outpoint him by a big margin or knock out the former champion as his stamina will have been spent before the fifteenth round.

Control Of Air To Come Before Congress At Coming Session

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of the News)

WASHINGTON, D. C. July 21. — Control of the air, both for radio and for aviation, will doubtless be the subject of livest interest—with the exception of pre-election politics—in the Seventieth Congress.

Only a compromise and temporary arrangement on radio was effected with the passage of the Dill-White radio bill in the Sixty-ninth Congress. The major activities of the Federal Radio Commission in regulating broadcasting activities will expire next February, according to the provisions of the act, and the radio division of the Department of Commerce will take over all its functions except that the commission will continue to exist as a sort of court of appeals from decisions of the Commerce Department.

There is certain to be a determined effort in Congress next winter to extend the life of the Radio Commission for another year in order to allow it to complete the job it has started and already has well under way. It is believed the effort will succeed.

While the Government's permanent policy on commercial aviation was theoretically determined by the passage during the last Congress of the "Act to encourage and regulate the use of aircraft in commerce, and for other purposes," aviation bills other than regular appropriation measures for the work already authorized are certain to come up.

Two similar air-control measures are to be proposed, one for the unification of radio control, and one for the unification of aviation activities. One new proposal for a merger of all radio activities would unite the regulation and control of all radio broadcasting, not only that now under the control of the Federal Radio Commission, but also the radio activities of the signal corps of the Army, Navy, and Marine Corps. The Army and Marine Corps radio work is mainly military, but the Navy engages in some broadcasting for the press and commercial organizations in certain sections of the world for American organizations and citizens. Of course, the radio act provides that the President may take over the whole radio system in time of war, but this proposal would give the Government entire control all the time.

Even more drastic is another proposal for a radio merger made to break the "radio trust" which is now being investigated by the Federal Trade Commission. This proposal would continue the Federal Rario Commission, and extend its control beyond its present authority over granting licenses, assigning wave lengths, etc., to include supervision of all wireless patents, regulation of the manufacture and sale of broadcasting and receiving equipment, and full control of radio communications, wireless telephony, and the broadcasting of electric power.

Senator C. C. Dill of Washington and Representative Wallace H. White, Jr. of Maine, authors of the present radio act, will probably have some suggestions to make for further radio legislation. Senator Dill has blocked the confirmation of the appointment of two members of the Radio Commission, Orestos H. Caldwell and Henry A. Bellows, and this fact will affect his approval of a continuance of the commission's functions. Representative White has been abroad studying European radio control systems. Both of them will have something to say aboult future legislation, particularly as there is a plan on foot to extend for another year the work of the Federal Radio Commission, created by their bill. A majority of the broadcasting companies are said to feel that the commission cannot complete satisfactorily its work of licensing stations, assigning bands of frequencies or wave lengths to stations, and otherwise "taking the chaos out of radio" by next February.

Something of the job to be accomplished can be understood when one remembers that there are 694 licensed broadcasting stations, and only 89 wave lengths available. Besides this domestic problem of dividing 89 wave lengths among 694 stations so that they will not conflict, there is the problem of international broadcasting. Mexico, Canada and Cuba are particularly concerned. The International Radio Conference to be held here in October will doubtless devise conventions for the regulation of international broadcasting, and these proposals for international agreements must be considered by Congress.

The proposal originally made by Col. Mitchell for a unified air service to handle Army, Navy, and commercial aviation, with a Secretary for Air in the President's Cabinet, is certain to bob up again. It may have gained some impetus as a result of the enthusiasm over the trans-oceanic flights of Lindbergh, Chamberlin, and Byrd. There are those who would like such an Aviation Department created, and Charles Augustus Lindburgh named as Secretary. While he has never committed himself on the subject, his statement that Europe, where there are air ministries in most of the governments, has developed commercial aviation far more than the United States may convert to the proposal some who have previously opposed it.

Congress will be asked for some $6,500,000 of $7,000,000 for the fiscal year. This is nearly double the appropriation available for the current promotion and regulation of commercial aviation. About $4,000,000 of this will go for providing and maintaining lighted airways, radio beacons, and more complete weather reports for the benefit of aviation. There is no movement to try to get the Government to help build airports, just as it helps develop rivers and harbors, since concerned should provide the airports, while the Federal Government should provide the necessary information for the proper construction of the ports, and the other aids to air navigation in the form of airways, meteorological service, radio "mile-posts," and the promotion of safety through the inspection and registering of planes and the examination and licensing of pilots. Some 6,000 miles of lighted airways are expected to be complete by October 1.

But, whatever Congress does, it is not expected to create a Government monopoly of broadcasting, such as England has, or establish any subsidy of commercial aviation, such as England and most European countries have. Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover, under whose general control both air activities are, opposes both projects. Assistant Secretary for Aeronautics W. P. MacCracken, Jr., opposes any attempt on the part of the Government to finance the opening of passenger or express lines. Even the enthusiastic Mr. Lindbergh came out against a subsidy. The Republican Party will effectively oppose any governmental invasion of private enterprise.

It is equally unlikely that either radio or aviation will be placed under one unified department or commission, since forces much too powerful are arrayed against both "merger" proposals.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

COUNCIL SALARIES

Editor New Castle News,
Dear Sir:

Regarding an article in the Tuesday's News concerning a proposed increase in salaries for the councilmen and mayor of the city, it is my honest opinion that the present scale of salaries is very good when compared with conditions in our city in general. Our mill workers are only working three days a week, as are many other men employed in other industries. Any of these men would gladly fill the positions of councilman or mayor and be mighty glad to get it.

This proposed increase would place an additional hardship on taxpayers who compose a major portion of these half-time industrial workers. Let our council put this matter up to the people. I feel quite sure that there would be no dearth of applicants for the places at the present rate of pay.

An increase of an additional $1,000 a year for council is indeed a very great one, and that of mayor from $2,500 to $4,000 is very much greater.

Let our city controllers try to reduce taxation before adding additional burdens to the citizens of New Castle. We had a great demand for councilmanic positions, even at a time when there was no salary connected with it, so there must have been some other compensation aside from this monetary consideration.

Very respectfully,
F. M. LYNN.

Hair Bobbing Disputes Date Back To Sheba

Queen Balked At Wedding Solomon Because She Must Shear Tresses

Bobbed hair was the subject of animated dispute several thousand years ago. Legends, as authentic as much ancient history, are to the effect that the Queen of Sheba refused to marry King Solomon because she was unwilling to have her tresses cropped to accord with the rule then prevailing in Jerusalem.

It has been recalled that Mme. de Sevigne in a letter to her daughter ridiculed women with short hair, saying it made one's head "look like a little round cabbage head. "Yet later Marie Theresa had her hair cut in the "St. Germain style" and, as is usual in such cases, others imitated her.

This fashion did not meet the favor of women whose hair was rather thin and scanty. Mme. de Pompadour, finding herself in this plight, resorted to the use of artificial hair, and thus brought into vogue the style of high head-dresses. Such extravagances were, however, stopped by the French Revolution, when again hair was cut short.

Under the Consulate there prevailed the "Titus," a boyish style of haircut. In the first empire women allowed their hair to grow long; during the Restoration it was raised in elaborate waves and mounds and in the Second Empire it was worn in low, flat bands. It may be hard to believe that the women of today, engaged in politics or business, will again wear the elaborate coiffures of a century ago. Nevertheless the most fashionable hair dressers of Paris have adopted a style of light and soft waves, calling for hair longer than the bobbed.—New York Times.

Fish Hatchery For Tionesta

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21.—After a series of conferences regarding hatchery sites at Reynoldsville and Tionesta the board of fish commissioners today announced their decision to proceed at once on the latter project. Because of the amount of money available at the present time only one of the sites can be developed in the immediate future.

The main point which caused the decision was the fact that at Tionesta all species of fish can be propagated while at Reynoldsville only trout raising will be possible.

Some amateur gardners grow impatient because they cannot grow anything else.

One County Sets Out Near Million Trees This Spring

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., July 21. — Cambria county, by setting out 980,015 small trees furnished by the State Department of Forests and Waters during the spring planting season, led all the counties of the state, according to a county schedule made public here. One hundred and eight persons or organizations in the county received trees from the department.

Planters in Elk county were second with 771,000 seedlings while Berks was a close third with 754,195. In Berks county 156 applicants were given trees, the largest number of planters in any county.

Final figures for the entire spring season show that 13,691,029 young trees were planted in the 67 couhties by persons who received them from the department.

An experiment has been undertaken at a cemetery in Madrid, for the installation of tiny telephones in each coffin. These are to be connected to an alarm bell in the porter's lodge, thus providing against the danger of anyone being buried alive.

Child-birth

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers!

When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says:

"With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes." Use "Mother's Friend" as our mothers and grandmothers did. Don't wait, start today, and meanwhile write to Bradfield Regulator Co., BA 46, Atlanta, Ga., for a free illustrated book containing information every expectant mother should have. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all drug stores—everywhere.
